Newspaper Men Ordered to Leave the French Capital

Because They Telegraphed Extracts from the Papers.

Premier Rebot Apologizes to Foreign Diplomats for Slurs Cast Upon Them—Germany Keenly Interested in the Canal Scandal.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PARIS, Jan. 15.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The government has begun a campaign against foreign newspaper correspondents in this city. The ministers have been seriously annoyed from the first by the attacks of English and German newspapers upon men besmirched by the Panama scandal. Today's dispatches from Berlin, Buda Pesth and London announced that the insinuations of the Cocarde had been transferred by the Paris correspondents of newspapers in these cities into open suggestions that either Baron Mohrenheim, the Russian Ambassador, or Count Menadrea, formerly the Italian Ambassador, had been influenced in favor of the Panama Canal Company by a bribe of f.500,000.

Herr Wedel, a correspondent for several German dailies, one of the guilty men, was notified that he must leave the country. M. Selche, correspondent of the Pesth Herald, was arrested for telegraphing the report in question to Buda Pesth. Several other correspondents were notified that they will be expelled from Paris for the same offense. This afternoon M. Ribot called on Baron Mohrenheim and Signor Rossma, successor to Count Menadrea, and apologized to each for the reflections cast upon the honor of the representatives of their sovereign.

It is reported tonight that papers recently seized show conclusively that Sans Leroy, the deputy now in prison, received repeated bribes from Panama lobbyists.

GERMANY'S EYE ON FRANCE.

BERLIN, Jan. 15.—For a generation Germany has not felt such an intense interest in French affairs as she has felt since the opening of the French Chamber. "It is no exaggeration to say," comments the National Zeitung, "that the Panama scandal is a theme discussed throughout the world. According to the latest report the scandal is becoming more world wide. It is now alleged that Baron Mohrenheim and the American president of the congress of the press were bribed. If the republic be overthrown either a dictatorship of the Boulangist sort or a Czardom of Napoleonic stamp or a clerical monarchy will conjure up a still broader and deeper sea of filth, in which blood and money will mingle."

LONDON, Jan. 15.—The Paris correspondent of the Morning Post says: "The Socialist meeting on Saturday night at the Tivoli Vauxhall ended between 1 and 2 a.m. in a general row. Anarchists stormed the platform, and, after a fight, captured the chair. Water bottles and chairs were hurled from the platform at the heads of the people below, and many were wounded. The proprietor turned off the gas, and hundreds of police cleared the hall.

"Gens 'd arme dispersed an anti-Semetic meeting at Lyons Sunday after an exciting struggle."

A meeting of Panama share and bondholders today resolved to form an executive committee with f. 25,000,000 capital and then apply for state aid. Count Keratry was appointed delegate to Washington to open negotiations with the United States Government. Another delegate will be appointed to negotiate with the Colombian government.

Gen. Saussier has called upon President Carnot to deny the truth of Figaro's insinuation that he is a candidate for the Presidency.

A PRESIDENTIAL CRISIS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The Tribune's Paris correspondent says: "The master stroke of the enemies of President Carnot is the attempt to connect his name with that of M. Wilson, whose relations with M. Grevy drove M. Grevy from the Elysée. M. Carnot was asked when Minister of Finance to remit a charge of f. 70,000 due to the treasury as registration fee on the Dreyfus guano contract. M. Wilson backed the petition. M. Carnot refused. But, says the author of the present story, M. Carnot, after refusing M. Wilson in the morning, in the afternoon ordered the f. 70,000 to be repaid him by a large financial house over which the government had control. The scandalous narative is not put directly on the Paris market, but woven into a telegram for provincial consumption. Similar dispatches are said to have been sent to many other provincial journals, but they were stopped by the Minister of the Interior. A denial of the story is expected in a day or two, to be followed by a fresh invention and fresh contradiction the day after. It is no longer possible to deny that there is a Presidential crisis."

OMINOUS SIGNS.

The Sun's Paris correspondent says: "The situation has suddenly assumed an ominous phase, and events seem to portend trouble. Boulangist and Social leaders believe military usurpation is at hand. Today the signs multiply that some sort of a crisis may be expected at any hour. It will not be brought on by the people. The danger of an uprising of the masses on account of the Panama revelations has passed."

A GREAT STORM.

Narrow Escape of Passengers on a Channel Steamer.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] A heavy storm is sweeping over England. Snow, sleet, and high winds prevail along the coast. Many small accidents to shipping are reported. The steamer Brighton, sailing between New Haven and Dieppe, had a terribly rough passage today. The deckhouse and smokestack were washed away, one of the boats was smashed and part of the port rail torn away. When she approached the pier at Dieppe the storm was so blinding the pilot could not see beyond the bow. None of the eighty passengers were allowed on deck. Without any warning the small ship crashed into the pier, knocking a large hole in her bow. She began filling rapidly. A long gangway was improvised and the passengers hurried ashore.

There was little panic. Half the baggage was taken off when the captain ordered the men to leave the ship. He had hardly followed the last man to the pier when the vessel went down.

Dynamite on the Congo.

LONDON, Jan. 15.—A dispatch to the General News Agency from St. Paul de Loanda says: "A train crowded with Europeans and natives halted on the Congo Railway near Matadi recently, and the engine detached to join a wagon loaded with fifty-four boxes of dynamite and eighty-two casks of gunpowder. The engine moved down the grade with great speed and collided with the wagon, exploding the dynamite. Fifty persons were killed, including Lequeque, head of the Societe Anonyme Belge."

A French Fleet for Morocco.

TOULON, Jan. 15.—It is reported that Admiral Burger's squadron has been ordered to make a demonstration before Tangier in consort with the Italian squadron in case England sends warships to the Morocco coast.

Released by the Moors.

MADRID, Jan. 15.—The Moors have liberated the Spanish commandant at Alhucemas, whom they kidnaped recently.

The Ripper at Moscow.

MOSCOW, Jan. 15.—The body of a woman cut into 178 pieces was found in a coffee sack in the street this morning. There is no clew to the murderer.

A STRANGE STORY.

Career of a Woman Who Married into the Sharon Family.

Her First Husband a Nephew of the Senator—A Second Matrimonial Venture Proves Disastrous—Penniless in Chicago.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] A local paper prints a rather remarkable story of a young woman calling herself Mrs. John Sharon, who applied to the Relief and Aid Society yesterday for assistance. She said she never saw he father, and her mother died a week after she was born. She was adopted by a Mr. Adams, who was afterward Mayor of Virginia City and a member of the Nevada Legislature. She was given every advantage, and at the age of 14 was sent to Mills's Seminary for Young Ladies in Oakland. While there she met John Sharon, nephew of Senator Sharon, and when she was 15 they were married. They lived happily a number of years and had three children, the eldest of whom is now 13 years of age. Her husband had a good position in a Virginia City mine given him by the Senator. Two years ago her husband died, leaving practically nothing. She had $2000 left her by a brother, whom she discovered after she was married, and who died before her husband. She says she appealed to the Sharon family, but they declined to have anything to do with her.

A year ago she went to El Paso, Tex., on a visit, and there met a handsome Spaniard, Joseph Lopez, with whom she became infatuated, and to whom she was married. A few months ago Lopez decided to come to Chicago, alleging that he could make good money here during the fair. Four months ago, on pretense of a business scheme, he induced her to give him $1800 she had put away, and deserted her and her children. Since that time she has been struggliug along doing various kinds of work, but yesterday she was forced to apply for aid for herself and children. She says she accidentally heard of her father a few months ago, when he attended a stockmen's convention at Butte, Mont. A newspaper article she saw also stated that he was wealthy, but she added: "I cannot feel that I have any claim on him now."

M'GLYNN'S POSITION.

He Denies that He Has Retracted What He Has Preached.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Dr. McGlynn tonight said that in his letter to Mgr. Satolli he neither condemned nor retracted the economic doctrines he had been teaching. He has made public the text of his letter. In it he says that he is rejoiced that Satolli is prepared to remove the ecclesiastical censure and that there is nothing contrary to the Catholic doctrine in the doctrine taught by him. He assures Satolli that he never has and never would say consciously a word contrary to the teachings of the church and the Holy See.

McGlynn said this evening that in the statement presented to Satolli there was no minimizing, explaining away or departing from the doctrines of the United Labor party or Anti-poverty Society.

A Pastor's Change of Base.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Rev. Edward Clark, for twenty-five years pastor of the Church of the Puritans, today publicly renounced allegiance to the General Assembly. "I cannot endure the tyranny of the General Assembly" said he. "It cannot dictate what I shall think and believe, or rather I cannot think or believe what it may dictate. I am done with it."

LIZARD, Jan. 15.—Passed: Hermann, for Antwerp.

HAVRE, Jan. 15.—Arrived: La Gascogne, from New York.

A BAD WRECK.

Serious Railway Accident in Oregon.

Last Rites Over the Remains of Creed Haymond at Sacramento.

Fearful Death of an Aged Pioneer Lady Near Modesto.

A Lively Senatorial Fight Anticipated in the Legislature at Olympia—Singular Murder at Corning—Other Coast News.

By Telegraph to The Times.

PORTLAND (Or.,) Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] A wood train on the Portland and Willamette Valley Railroad met with a serious accident this afternoon, near Oswego, twelve miles south of this city, which resulted in the injury of sixteen persons. Every one on board except Conductor Kennedy and Engineer Miller was hurt, several seriously, and two probably fatally.

The train consisted of an engine and caboose and twenty-four flat cars. Seven flat cars were between the locomotive and caboose, and the remainder behind. There were seventeen men in the caboose. While going around a curve and approaching a trestle, the engineer saw a large tree across the track, but realized that he could not stop in time, so he shut off steam and jumped. The conductor, who was on the engine, followed him. The engine struck the tree, and was thrown from the track, falling about fifteen feet off the trestle. Seven flat cars and the caboose also went off, the latter being badly smashed. All passengers were shaken up more or less, and Raphael Cowtege was probably fatally hurt. Fireman John Hohenleitner was caught under the engine and scalded. He also received internal injuries, and may die.

THE LAST RITES.

Funeral Services Over the Remains of Creed Haymond.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] The funeral of Creed Haymond was largely attended here today despite the rain. The body arrived a little before noon, and was received at the depot by Royal Arch Chapter and Union Lodge Masons and local companies of the National Guard. Among those accompanying the remains from San Francisco were: Col. C. F. Crocker, T. H. Goodman, Stephen T. Gage and H. C. Nash (representing Senator Stanford.) The floral offerings were very elegant, the chief piece being sent by Senator and Mrs. Stanford, and representing a broken column and composed of orchid leaves and blossoms.

The only services were those of the Masonic order, with hymns by a male quartette. The body was deposited in a private vault containing that of the deceased's wife. The military fired three volleys at the conclusion of the services. The pall bearers were: Gen. T. W. Sheehan, Col. Guthrie, Majs. Hubbard and Ormsby for the National Guard, and J. W. Rock, W. D. Knight, W. H. Baldwin and W. B. Hamilton, for the Masons.

FATALLY BURNED.

Terrible Death of an Aged Lady Near Modesto.

MODESTO, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Yesterday afternoon, at Ceres, Mrs. Abby Woodbridge, wife of D. K. Woodbridge, was burned to death. The lady was 75 years of age and partially paralyzed. While her husband was absent for a few moments he detected a smell of burning clothing, and went to the house to investigate. He found his wife at the sink with the faucet turned on, with her clothing entirely burned off and her body burned all over. When Woodbridge left her she was sitting in front of a stove reading a newspaper. The doors of the stove were open, and it is believed that she dozed and the paper fell into the fire and communicated the flames to her clothing. She afterward went to the sink in the adjoining room to put out the flames with water.

The unfortunate lady lingered five hours, when death relieved her of her suffering. Mrs. Woodbridge was a pioneer resident of this county. She was a native of Maine. The funeral will take place tomorrow forenoon at 11 o'clock. She leaves four married daughters.

WASHINGTON POLITICS.

The Senatorial Situation Still a Matter of Speculation.

OLYMPIA (Wash.,) Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Notwithstanding the fact that a Senatorial election takes place Tuesday, but little change marks the situation tonight, and all efforts to secure a caucus are without avail. The Allen men have secured forty-four signatures to a caucus call, three of whom are conditional to securing the fifty-seven names necessary to elect and four of them are Turner men anxious to bring matters to a point so that the actual signers are thirty, seven. It is said that twenty-seven men have pledged themselves to stand against a caucus at all hazards.

The Democrats are still of the opinion that they will name as Senator Col. Hawlett of North Yakima, who is talked of as a dark horse. He refuses to be considered in the matter, as it would be a breach of faith to both sides, with whom he has many friends.

A Counterfeiter Caught.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 15.—Secret service officers arrested Manning Jonas today on charge of passing counterfeit money. No spurious money was found in his possession, but there is evidence that he has been circulating counterfeit $10 treasury notes recently. Jonas has a brother, who, with a man named Hart, was arrested in Marysville a few years ago and found to have $800 in counterfeit silver in his possession. They were both sent to the penitentiary.

Freight Train Wrecked.

TACOMA (Wash.,) Jan. 15.—The overland train west bound, due here at 9:30 this morning, was five hours late, owing to the wreck of an east bound freight. The freight was derailed one mile west of Eagle Gorge, by a log blown over the track. Engineer Rau and Fireman Driscoll saved their lives by jumping. Rau was slightly injured on the head.

Lumber Mills Burned.

TACOMA (Wash.,) Jan. 15.—The Buckley Lumber Company's mills were burned this morning. The fire originated in a refuse pile. The buildings burned cost $20,000. Three thousand dollars worth of lumber was burned. The rest of the buildings were saved by the efforts of citizens. The insurance on the entire plant is $18,000. A new mill will be built with greater capacity.

A Switchman Killed.

SAN BERNARDINO, Jan. 15.—R. T. Allen, a switchman in the yards of the Santa Fé Railway, was killed here today while engaged in making up a freight train. He fell in front of a moving car and the entire train ran over him, mangling his body fearfully. He leaves a widow and one child.

Stabbed Without Warning.

CORNING, Jan. 15,—About 5 o'clock this evening David Davis and Charles Schmidt were sitting outside the hotel and talking, when suddenly Davis stabbed Schmidt in the neck, cutting a vein. Dr. Moore is trying to save him, but the chances are against his living.

Death of a Napa Pioneer.

NAPA, Jan. 15.—Thomas Earl, a wealthy pioneer of this county, died last night.

THE KANSAS CLANS.

Sunday a Day of Welcome Rest to the Warring Legislators.

TOPEKA (Kan.,) Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Many of the warring statesmen are spending Sunday with their families, and the city is enjoying the first quiet it has experienced for nearly two weeks. The armistice declared yesterday afternoon furnished a greatly needed breathing spell, and the situation is being reviewed calmly and apart from the exciting events that have been occurring hourly for the past week. Much talk is indulged in looking to an amicable consolidation of the two organizations. Many Populist members have privately conceded that the Republican House is the legal one, but the fact that the Populist majority in the Senate, and the Populist Governor have recognized the minority House, leaves them powerless to recede from the action taken.

The Republicans will consider no arbitration proposition which does not recognize their organization as legal and regular. This being the spirit manifested on both sides, there is no immediate prospect of a change in the relative positions of the House. The conditions will remain unchanged until one side or the other attempts to assume the aggressive and by force assert its authority. Neither as yet shows a disposition to do this.

HUNGER AT HOMESTEAD.

Three Hundred Persons on the Verge of Starvation.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Continued cold weather has increased the suffering at Homestead, and it is stated that nearly three hundred people are on the verge of starvation. Contributions are still coming in, but the aggregate amount is so small it will not procure the bare necessaries. In the mill there is a great deal of dissatisfaction over wages. Yesterday was the first pay-day under the new scale, and many workmen claim that their envelopes did not contain more than one-half the amount received for the same period before the strike. A number of men stated today that they would quit or strike just as soon as there is warmer weather. Officials deny that there is any dissatisfaction, and claim that if wages are smaller it is the fault of the men, who are not working as hard as formerly.

To Be Electrocuted Today.

DANNEMORA (N. Y.,) Jan. 15.—Kornell Loth, a Hungarian, 26 years old, will be electrocuted tomorrow for the murder of Mrs. Ettie Demaesek at Schenectady. The condemned man shows little feeling or interest in his approaching execution. The dynamos and apparatus were all tested today and found in good working order.

The Coming Week Will Be Exciting.

White Still a Strong Favorite for the Senatorship.

The Prize Likely to Go to Him on the Third Ballot.

Important Railroad Legislation to Come Up—Oakland's Water-front Fight—Lively Contest for the Position of State Librarian.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] The third week of the thirtieth session of the Legislature which begins tomorrow, will be productive of important legislation. Among matters coming up is the election of a United States Senator to succeed Felton. While the general opinion is that White will be nominated on third ballot at the farthest, rumors of combinations which continue to arise make it impossible to state anything definite before the first ballot has been taken. It is claimed, apparently on good authority, that Carlson of San Diego (Ind.) and Burke of San Francisco (non-partisan) have arranged to secure the credit of casting the deciding votes, but that they, together with certain Republicans, will vote for their favorite candidate on the first ballot.

Schlesinger's resolution for investigation of the Board of Railroad Commissioners and the bill introduced by Shanahan for the reassessment and collection of all taxes, except poll taxes, which for any reason have become invalid since 1882, the latter bill being better known as the "Railroad Tax Bill," had not been sent to the printer with the amendments up to this afternoon, though Shanahan's bill is the special order for 2 o'clock Monday.

At the close Saturday 293 bills had been introduced and sent to the printer during the session, about half of which have been returned. The largest number of bills has been sent up by Price of Butte and Finlayson of Los Angeles, Dodge of Alameda, Bennett of Santa Clara and Anderson of Sacramento.

Dodge will introduce tomorrow the Oakland Water-front Bill, entitled: "An act appropriating the sum of $15,000 to defray the costs and expenses, and for the employment of associate counsel therein, of suit and legal proceedings to be commenced and prosecuted by the Attorney-General in the name of the people of the State of California, to quiet title to and for recovery of possession of the Oakland water-front, San Antonio Creek and its bays and estuaries and the Alameda water-front." The bill is expected to be discussed at length.

Next to the election of a United States Senator the most interest is taken in the election by joint legislative convention on Wednesday of a board of five State library trustees, who will elect a State librarian. Perkins is being opposed by Gen. R. H. Orton, and friends of the latter claim for him in addition to the practically solid support of the Republicans, the votes of the eight Populists and of a number of Democrats. Perkins's friends claim that there is no doubt of the latter's election.

BODY SNATCHING.

A Nefarious Calling Carried on in the Shadow of the Capitol.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] A morning paper prints a two-page article from its Washington correspondent, who was commissioned to make inquiries concerning the unlawful spoliation of graves in the interest of surgical science almost within the shadow of the Capitol. The correspondent states that historic burial places have been desecrated by ruffians whose audacity has no parallel even in the records of the loathsome calling which they have adopted. The method of operating is graphically told with sketches. The tools employed form a part of the story.

The correspondent in his statement as to how he secured the evidence of body snatching says: "One man was sent at 11 o'clock last night to a favorable point overlooking the Congressional Cemetery, one man to Glenwood and one man to potter's field. A watcher was placed where he could observe any entry to the Columbian University Medical College, and another in a similar position near the Georgetown College. These institutions greatly need subjects. At 12:30 a.m. the watchers at potter's field saw a canvas wagon box on runners, occupied by three, and possibly four, men, drive up to the gully alongside the paupers' burial ground. At about 1 a.m. two men got out. One carried what looked like a pickax. He crawled through the opening in the fence. He was followed by the other. No lights were displayed. Whatever they secured will probably be delivered at the Washington Medical College before daylight. At this hour, 2 a.m., no report has been received from the college under surveillance or from the other cemeteries."

Cold Weather in Virginia.

CAPE CHARLES (Va.,) Jan. 15.—Snow fell early this morning, covering the peninsula from eleven to fourteen inches deep. The mercury is at 10° tonight, and falling fast. It was the coldest day since 1857. Steamers between Cape Charles and Norfolk are making trips with much difficulty on account of the ice. At Smith's Island the ice extends a mile and a half into the ocean.

Burned in Long Island Sound.

BRIDGEPORT (Ct.,) Jan. 15.—A large three masted schooner was burned to the water's edge in the sound about ten miles off the city tonight. Another vessel tacked close by, and if any of the crew were saved they were taken aboard the latter. The wreck sank about 8:30. No further particulars can be learned tonight.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Coming Week Will Be a Busy One in Congress.

Needed Legislation to Be Enacted in Both Houses.

Blaine Has Another Good Day and is Doing Well.

Secretary of State Foster Preparing to Resign and Take Part in the Bering Sea Arbitration—National Notes.

By Telegraph to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] The week promises to be an eventful one in the Senate. Save the passage of the Quarantine Bill, the Senate has accomplished very little, and not one of the annual appropriation bills has been passed. The Committee on Order of Business has determined that something must be done to advance public business. What will follow the Anti-option Bill will be decided by the committee before Wednesday.

The majority has mapped out a big programme for the House. Tomorrow efforts will be made to pass the Raum pension office report and the election of Senators by the people by a two-thirds vote. The majority of the Rules Committee decided to allot Tuesday to bills coming from the Judiciary Committee; Wednesday to the Immigration Bill; Thursday and Saturday to bills originating with the Committee on Foreign and Interstate Commerce. Friday, under the regular rules, is private bill day.

There is some opposition to the Immigration Bill, and it is hardly likely that one day will suffice for its passage. There is a probability that some trouble for both the Quarantine and Immigration Bill from the opposition of members who favor other than the two measures. The Commerce Committee has a formidable list of measures which it hopes to pass, headed by an omnibus lighthouse bill, and a bill for building a couple of additional revenue cutters. The committee is also anxious to pass two bills amendatory to the Interstate Commerce Act, which will be reported to the House during the week by Chairman Wise of Virginia, to meet the Counselman case and Judge Gresham's decision, and allow railroads to pool under consent of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

BLAINE DOING WELL.

The ex-Secretary's Condition is Still Regarded as Favorable.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] There were no developments in Blaine's condition today other than favorable ones, and when Dr. Johnston left the house, at 6:30 this evening, he said he should not return during the night unless especially summoned.

Blaine passed the most comfortable night last night that he has experienced for many days. On account of the cold weather callers at the house were fewer than usual today. As Dr. Johnston left the house this evening he stated that there had been no appreciable change in the patient's condition during the last three days, and none is expected during the night.

In answer to an inquiry Dr. Johnston said that to all appearances Blaine has not lost any strength since the attack of last Thursday, and, on the whole, he regarded his condition as favorable as could be expected.

No Combine Against Cleveland.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—A Washington special to the "Herald says: "Mr. Cleveland as President will have no trouble with an opposition. The statement was made by Senator Hill, who says that the assumption that any combination will be made to oppose Cleveland or his nominations for Cabinet or other positions in the Government is absurd. 'The presumption,' said Senator Hill tonight, 'that there would be a combination between Senator Murphy and myself is preposterous. Cleveland was elected President by the Democratic party, and, as Democrats, both Senator Murphy and myself are obliged to support him whether we want to or not.'"

Secretary Foster Preparing to Resign.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The Secretary of State and Mrs. Foster will be given a round of dinners within the next few days by members of the diplomatic corps, previous to their departure for Paris, where Mr. Foster will have charge of the case of the United States in the Bering Sea arbitration. Secretary Foster expects to resign his portfolio the last week of this month, and after a short visit to Now York State, will sail with Mrs. Foster for Paris, which they will reach about February 20. Arbitrators are to meet February 23.

A Cure for "Lumpy Jaw."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Secretary Rusk has secured from Dr. Salmon, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, a report on experiments and investigations being made in Chicago in the treatment of cattle for "lumpy jaw." The report concludes that the remedy tried, iodide of potassium, is remarkably successful. Sixty-three per cent. of the cattle treated were cured. The report shows that the cost of treatment is trifling in comparison with the results, and it is also proved that the disease is not contagious.

The Woman Suffragists.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—The twenty-fifth annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage Association will be held in this city this week. This afternoon religious services were held in Metzerotte's Music Hall as a preliminary to the gathering.

Senator Cullom Ill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—Senator Cullom of Illinois has been confined to his room the past week by illness. He is better today and expects to be out again in a few days.

Cleveland's Quiet Sunday.

LAKEWOOD (N. J.,) Jan 15.—President-elect Cleveland received a few friends this afternoon. It is said J. Randolph Tucker and Mr. Carlisle will probably call upon Mr. Cleveland tomorrow or Tuesday. Mrs. Cleveland attended services today, and in the afternoon went sleigh-riding.

Canada Will Stop Discriminating.

TORONTO (Ont.,) Jan. 15.—The Empire, organ of the Canadian government, will on Monday announce that the tariff of canals adopted for the year 1893 puts an end to all discrimination against vessels, merchandise or citizens of the United States.

LYING IN STATE.

Vast Throngs View the Remains of Gen. Butler at Lowell.

LOWELL (Mass.,) Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] At Gen. Butler's late residence on Belvidre Hill this morning private funeral services were held. Rev. Dr. A. St. John of the Chambers-street Church and Rev. Mr. Ames of the Episcopal Church officiated. After short services those present looked upon the remains of the General for the last time.

A detachment of comrades of Post 42, G.A.R., reached the house directly after the private funeral exercises and bore the body from the house to a hearse drawn by four horses. The streets were crowded as the band signalled by a dirge the passage of the General's body from the house to Huntington Hall, where it is to lie in state. In the hall the coffin was placed in the center of the floor. From ceiling to floor a wall of black extended. On the coffin were placed the sword and epaulets worn from Lowell to the Gulf and back again. Behind the catafalque rested a bank of flowers that came from President Harrison; from convicts in the State Prison, and from all classes of people between those extremes

When the crowd was admitted to the hall they struggled up stairs and past the police, who tried to restrain them. Huntington Hall, whenever Gen. Butler approached there in life, saw turbulent scenes, but those of today surpassed anything ever seen before. Down in the street thousands pressed forward when they saw the doors open. All the afternoon a steady stream of people poured in, but the crowd did not diminish. Late in the afternoon the doors were closed and the officers had an hour's rest. At 6 o'clock the doors were opened again, and more order was maintained up to 11 o'clock, when the final closing was made. Hundreds left the place without getting in, and many others who wanted to get out of the jam were forced to wait. There will be another crush tomorrow morning, as those who failed today will try then. Preparations are being made for making the funeral greater than any Lowell has ever witnessed.

PARLOR PUGILISM.

New Yorkers Enjoy a Fistic Encounter and a Banquet.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] A novel battle was fought this afternoon in this city in the elaborately furnished parlor of a well-known roadhouse near Macomb's dam bridge. The prize-ring paraphernalia were carried under long ulsters by the managers to the scene of the contest. Only twenty-two persons witnessed the pugilistic argument, including two newspaper reporters. No admission was charged, the affair being by invitation. A purse was subscribed among the spectators, who, in almost every instance, were well-to-do lawyers, bankers and theatrical people. The gentleman who arranged the unique affair is quite well known to the general public as a manager of amusements, and may be guessed at by the mere mention of his flowing whiskers.

The men who furnished the amusement were Danny Ryan of Philadelphia and Sam Jackson of Gloucester. Six lively give-and-take rounds were fought, Ryan finally knocking Jackson out by a swing on the jaw. The winner got $200 for his victory and Jackson received $35 as a balm for the whipping.

After the fight a supper was served, in which both boxers participated.

A CHICAGO MYSTERY.

The Proprietor of a Shooting Gallery Found Murdered.

CHICAGO, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] John Russell, proprietor of a shooting gallery in Halsted street, was murdered in his place of business late last night. The crime was not discovered until noon, when Dr. Funk, a dentist living near the place, notified the police that two women had told him that something was wrong in the gallery. The officers burst in the door and found Russell dead with a bullet in his brain. A woman, whom Dr. Funk declared to be one of those who called on him, came in with a physician. She gave her name as Mrs. Rosa Sherwood and said she had been coming every morning and doing Russell's housework. This morning when she came with her sister, Mrs. Annie Hewitt, they found Russell dead. Then they went for Dr. Funk. The other woman was hunted up and told a somewhat different story. Both were locked up, as were also their husbands, who were found late tonight intoxicated in a saloon. The police expect important developments.

MEXICAN OUTLAWS.

Five Miscreants Killed for Committing a Terrible Outrage.

MORELOS (Mexico,) Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] Particulars of a terrible crime which was perpetrated near Cuernavava have reached here. Padre Malevo, a well-known merchant, accompanied by his wife, left his home a few evenings ago to visit friends in Cuernavava. When within a few miles of their destination a band of outlaws attacked them. Malevo was murdered and robbed and his wife outraged by the villains.

News of the crime spread rapidly and the commander of the military garrison immediately ordered out a detachment of 2000 troops to pursue the perpetrators of the foul deeds. The troops in a few hours came upon the villains. The outlaws made a desperate resistance and kept up the fight until three of them were killen. The other two were captured and shot. None of the soldiers were killed. A large amount of stolen property was recovered.

Navajoes Threaten Trouble.

DENVER (Colo.,) Jan. 15.—A News special from Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "Word is received here from Cortez, in Southern Colorado, that the Navajo Indians and prospectors, who are looking into the Carrizzo Mountains where gold has been found, are preparing for trouble, and without doubt the redskins will go on the warpath this spring and probably sooner. The Ute Indians claim that the prospectors are trespassers, while the latter deny it, and are prepared to defend their rights."

Jumped a Switch.

OMAHA (Neb.,) Jan. 15.—Incoming passengers report a bad wreck, in which several persons were injured, on the Burlington road at Murray, Iowa, today. The Denver express jumped a switch, a dining-car and sleeper being ditched. The cook in the dining-car sustained serious injuries and will lose a leg. Conductor George of the Pullman car was severly cut about the head. Several other people were badly shaken up, but not seriously hurt.

Death of a Veteran.

A Woman's Letter About Things in Chicago.

The Persuasive Hackman and His Man Friday.

The Troublesome Question of Sunday Opening.

The Cheerless Exposition Grounds in Midwinter—Busy Women and Their Work—The Consecration of Willard Hall.

Special Correspondence of The Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The city is now a picture of sober winter, the Christmas decorations have disappeared. Even the children became weary of the high shop window, where the Exposition city, a glare of red light shining out of innumerable windows, was descending out of heaven, lake front first, before the rapt vision of Columbus, his followers, and a ballet troupe of Pocahontasses. It is too cold for visitors; the park carriages do not run. It is well that the outside world should know that they are ordinarily to be found just inside the main entrances, and that in one of them the circuit of the grounds can be made for 25 cents. Now the hackmen have it all their own way. "Carriage for a dollar!" "I think I can do better," was the answer. Half a block further on the hackman now overtakes the traveler. "There's a gentleman here will take the carriage with you; half a dollar each." The "gentleman" has a hackneyed look, as if kept in reserve; five minutes' walk procured a park carriage with a driver, who was also an intelligent guide. Sometimes, after a visitor has been driven around two or three corners, he is brought to a stand-still and informed that he must pay 50 cents toll before the carriage will be allowed to enter the gate; but this does not often happen; not oftener than similar transactions occur in every large city. Nowhere can a traveler "place himself in the hands of his friends." The young woman who carries her pocketbook in her left hand while she manages the train of her dress with her right meets her fate here as she does in the metropolis.

The "Renaissance" plaster palaces, whose vacant windows look out on frozen ponds, caricature themselves; and one hears with some dismay expressions of hope that next spring it will not rain every day until July. Whatever may come, it is evident that everything possible will be done to assure visitors of comfort and safety.

Mrs. J. K. Boyesen, Mrs. Maria C. Remick and Mrs. G. F. Washburn went yesterday to Washington to ask Congress to allow the opening of the exposition on Sunday. This will settle the matter. They represent the Woman's Club, and claim that it has a membership of more than five hundred women in each State in the Union. Congressman Duborow receives them in Washington. The Sunday question is of universal interest; the secular press, almost without exception, favors it; but the amount of citizen influence against it is more than is heard.

The churches of Chicago are well attended; in no city is there a larger proportion of men in the church congregations, but even municipal authority makes curious compromises. Policemen conscientiously forbid the small boy from skating on Union Park pond in the immediate neighborhood of three or four large churches until after 1 o'clock, when Sunday-schools close. Theaters generously allow the morning to the churches, and begin each new performance Sunday evening late enough to allow church-members to attend an early prayer-meeting and get in place before the stage curtain rises; but evening church service is well attended and the native of Chicago says that the "professors" who attend the theater Sunday night have not yet handed in their letters from Eastern churches. The power of example prevails, however; Modjeska, contrary to her custom consented to give a hospital benefit on a Sunday evening.

To the 500,000 members of the W.C. T. U. scattered through the United States, the consecration—not dedication— of Willard Hall was a matter of great interest. The speaker was Mrs. Helen Barker, now having charge of Mrs. Potter Palmer's force of clerks, but who was for several years president of the State W.C.T.U. of Dakota. Willard Hall is now open to regular daily religious service. It is small, seating only 400, and as a memorial to the name it perpetuates, should have had the best location in the temple. But fame was not allowed to limit its advantages for sacred use. The place for a daily religious meeting must be in a path where busy feet might turn aside for a few moments. So Willard Hall was placed on the ground near the corner of two busy streets, La Salle and Monroe. It has been leased for three years by the Chicago Central W.C.T.U., and meetings will be managed by the secretary of that union, now Mrs. Daisy H. Carlock. On Miss Willard's return it will be dedicated. All its furnishing and decoration will then be complete, and will merit particular description. The funeral of Mary Allen West will doubtless be postponed until the arrival of Miss Willard. Miss West's friends expect that her body, now on its way from Japan, will arrive some time in February.

Just now the common people are interested in the discussion of social standing based on geographical divisions. The society women of the West Side have arisen to assert equality of social rank with those of the North and South. The Y of the Chicago River—its base or stem resting on the lake—is the Rubicon. Naturally, north of it is North Side and south of it is South Side; but West Side is all that part of the earth that stretches away from its west bank. The South Side smiles downwardly on the North Side, but both North and South Side smile broadly at the West Side. Its representatives, in exposition grandeurs and recently in the charity ball, have not been in proportion to its well-conditioned population. The West Side ladies, when interviewed, instead of uttering weak evasions, said frankly that they were obliged to see that a distinction had been made against them which had no real existence. One of these, in a spirited letter to the press, enumerates the grand churches, the colleges, the literary and philanthropic institutions of the West Side—the old city, since it escaped the fire—the activity of its moral agents, the less amount of crime compared with the North and South sides, and closes with a suggestive, as well as ringing, declaration that the wealthy and cultured people of the West Side intend to stay on the West Side—as much as to say, It is not necessary for us to go to the North or the South Side to prove or sustain rank. The utterance was needed and has done good. It is good always to snub snubbers; no one else will criticise the West Side ladies for their promulgation of equal rights.

Following close upon this manifesto was the first meeting of the Ladies' West Side Club, which has about one hundred and twenty-five members. Mrs. W. J. Chalmers, president; Mrs. A. E. Clark and Mrs. E. G. Clark, vice-presidents; Mrs. Mark Sherwood, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. M. Bushnell, recording secretary, and Mrs. Charles Fitz-Simons, treasurer. With them as speakers were Mrs. Potter Palmer; Mrs. Charles Henrotin, president of the Woman's Auxiliary on "Associations of Women;" Mrs. Celia Parker Wooley, of the Fortnightly Club; Mrs. T. B. Carse, president of the Central W.C.T.U., and Mrs. J. M. Flower, member of the Board of Education. A part of Mrs. Potter Palmer's address is of interest to all women. "It would be difficult for you to understand how we at headquarters are continually pressed by organizations of women all over the country for definite information in regard to the various exhibits to be made at the exposition. We had planned how all this might be taken care of. It was proposed that the Chicago University should establish a Columbian school; that theses on the various subjects should be prepared and sent out to the woman's clubs the country over, and that guides should be furnished from the under-graduates of the university; but to secure the realization of this beautiful plan it was necessary to raise $20,000. The canvassers were able to secure but $12,000, and finally, December 15, the whole scheme was abandoned. We shall be hard pushed now to supply the demand of these eager, intelligent women, but we shall do our best."

The patience of the lady managers of the World's Fair is taxed by the late pressure of applications for exhibitions. One foreign commission of women is greatly dissatisfied because of the limitation of the number of best books by representative authors, 100 being the number.

Timely attention is being called to the fact that hotels will profit by rich visitors, but that the exposition must secure the attendance of the masses if the turnstile makes a desirable record; in this connection it is remembered that at the Centennial of 1876, fully half, probably more than half, of the visitors were women of moderate means. The money they spent went directly to the exposition. There is now an army of teachers, women, closely watching the newspapers as well as their expenses, to decide if they can afford to come to Chicago and stay long enough to see all that is worth seeing safely and comfortably. Besides these there are other women who do not earn salaries who will, if they can, make the World's Fair the one great occasion of their lives; these and hundreds of church women of all grades of prosperity and intelligence, together with the 500,000 members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, not to speak of the male members of churches and temperance societies, besides a great number of Americans who have not been abroad, who do not favor un-American customs—have certain prejudices which should not be lost sight of by those who would override a clear business agreement to increase receipts by liquor selling and assume that it takes the half of 365 days to make a week.

MARY L. SHERMAN.

SATOLLI'S APPOINTMENT.

An Autograph Letter from the Pope in Regard to It.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15.—[By the Associated Press.] In connection with the appointment of Satolli as apostolic delegate to this country, it is learned today that early in December the professors of the faculty of theology of the Catholic University transmitted through Cardinal Rampolla to the Pope a joint letter expressing their devotion to the holy father and thanks for sending a delegate. An autograph letter from the Pope has been received in reply in which he bestows the apostolic benediction, expresses gratification at the spirit exhibited in their address and "rejoices indeed to see that you welcome with pleasure proof of our paternal solicitude which we gave in the mission of our venerable brother."

A Reporter Carried Out to Sea.

NEW YORK, Jan. 15.—Tribble, night quarantine news colector for the Press, and John R. Gibbs, his boatman, left the boarding-station dock at about 5 p.m. to board the steamer Strabo, from Rio, and at 12 o'clock had not returned. Unless they remaiden on board the steamer, it is greatly feared the ice moving swiftly on the ebb tide carried them outside the Narrows. Owing to large quantities of ice in the bay it is impossible to communicate with the steamer.

Bnai Brith Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 15.—The sixth annual convention of the Supreme Lodge of the Improved Order of Bnai Brith began here today. The most important question discussed during the session was that of the endowment of a fund of the order. A committee was finally appointed to propose a plan and report tomorrow evening. A resolution reported by the Committee on Resolutions, recommending the repeal of the law requiring members to be married by the "Jewish rite," was adopted.

Fire and Panic in a Church.

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.,) Jan. 15.—This evening while services were being held in Grace Episcopal Church the evergreen decorations caught fire. The congregation became panic stricken and fled in terror. Several ladies fainted and were trampled upon, but not seriously hurt. The flames were extinguished before much damage was done.

THE FAVORITE RESORT.

Some Reasons Why the Redondo Hotel is Preferred.

There are now many good hotels in Southern California, and tourists are not restricted in making a choice. But the Redondo has become a great favorite, for several reasons. For instance, it is but a few minutes ride from Los Angeles, yet well removed from the noise and hurry of the busy streets; it is first-class in all respects, yet the cost of living there is quite moderate; it has many fine views, both marine and landscape; guests have the retirement of a private home if they so choose, or they may enjoy parlor concerts, dancing or whist parties, if they so elect; if they like driving through the country, teams and drivers are at their orders. In a word the Redondo furnishes everything necessary to the happiness of those living beneath its roof, while the guest has no care but to enjoy himself while partaking of the good things provided for him. Every employee of the house is required, as far as possible, to anticipate his wants and supply them, while the polite gentlemen in the office are sure to make him feel that his comfort is their first consideration. It would be a mistake for you to visit the Italy of America and go away without seeing and enjoying the hospitality of its most popular hotel.

Broadway Fuel Depot, Tel. 472.

Phœnix Soon to Have Two Four-story Business Blocks.

A New Smelter—A Miner's Plan for Paying His Help—9000 Acres to Be Reclaimed by Irrigation—High-priced Fruit.

Special Correspondence of The Times.

TUCSON, Jan. 13.—Phœnix is in the midst of a healthy boom. The Denver capitalists recently arrived are shaking things up there in a way they like. A short time ago they sold a lot on which a four-story block will be erected.

Wednesday another important sale of property on Washington street was made to Denver parties, and Phœnix will by the trade secure another big four-story brick block of modern architecture and with all the latest improved conveniences. The property sold consists of the M. Wormser 200 feet facing the Mills House on Washington street, the price paid being $20,000. The purchasers are A. E. Pierce, a wealthy real estate dealer of Denver; Mr. Greenlee of the marble and granite firm of Greenlee & Co., and William Craig, a rich minister of the gospel.

The mining operations of the Cañada del Oro Mining Company, a London concern, are very extensive. Capt. Jack Burgess, manager for Arizona, is now in Denver purchasing a large smelter, the present one being of too small capacity. The company are working forty-two men and thirty teams at Silver Bell. At present they are shipping twenty tons of ore a day to the Tucson smelter, which soon will be increased to forty or forty-five tons a day. The value of the present output of the smelter is $600 to $700 a day. The ore soon to be worked from Silver Bell will run from 25 to 30 per cent. of copper. The Silver Bell ore also contains 40 per cent. carbonate of lead and twenty to thirty ounces of silver. The output of the property with the force Capt. Burgess will put on will be 300 tons a day.

Cañada del Ora stock is bringing £4 in London, or four times the par value, with none for sale at that figure.

The test run of ores through the Klein mill at Globe last week was very successful, one lot of ore working up to 97 per cent.

The Tucson Citizen is in the field for a World's Fair edition. It will consist of a minimum of 25,000 copies.

The survey of the Fort Verde military reservation is complete, and the survey shows the reservation to contain 9000 acres. Most of it will be reclaimed soon by irrigation.

The Globe Silver Belt says: "The total output of copper by the Old Dominion Copper Company during the year 1892 was 8,019,049 pounds, to produce which 24,269 tons of ore and 8840 tons of lime were used in smelting. The largest production of any previous year was 7,720,015 pounds in 1890.

A BIG MATRIMONIAL BUREAU.

[Washington Star.]

"Not many years ago I was in the wholesale matchmaking business," said an ex-officer of the army to a Star reporter. "It was matchmaking of the matrimonial kind. At that time, in 1879 and 1880, Manitoba was being opened to settlement and there was a rush of colonists thither from Ontario and Quebec and from Great Britain. The settlers were mostly men. Some of them had families and would send for them as soon as they had got somewhat fixed, but very many were bachelors. They were making homes for themselves, and naturally they found that they needed wives. Not a few of them were sons of English farmers, and nearly all were respectable and hard-working fellows.

"They could not afford to go and get wives, and so helpmeets had to be imported for them. Young women, guaranteed as to respectability, were brought over from England in great numbers, and this business rapidly grew to be an important branch of the immigration traffic. One philanthropic lady in England devoted her attention to exporting homeless but worthy girls by the shipload to Quebec, whence they were forwarded to Manitoba. Trains would come into St. Boniface, across the river from Winnipeg, bringing two or three carloads of available wives at a time. They were chaperoned with due regard to propriety, and were consigned to the land and mining agents, who conveyed them to Winnipeg, where suitable quarters were provided for their temporary accommodation. The accommodation was very temporary because they were soon disposed of.

"The settlers who were bachelors applied for the girls as fast as they were brought in. Their applications were not considered unless they were properly guaranteed as to character and ability to support a wife. Few of them came to Winnipeg from a shorter distance than 250 miles. Most commonly they were certified by letters from land agents, stating that John Smith, for example, was located on such and such a tract of land, was the owner of 1500 horses, was sound and kind, and so forth. On making formal application for a wife John Smith was asked what sort of a woman he preferred—whether blonde or brunette, tall or short, plump or thin, etc. Having stated his preferences he was introdnced to one of the available ladies, whereupon matters were quickly arranged. A remarkable point was that no suitor had ever to be introduced to a second girl. Invariably he was content with the first one and immediately married her. Apparently the men considered that when they had gone so far as an introduction they had committed themselves irretrievably.

"In this way, by a process of artificial selection, myself and other persons officially in charge at Winnipeg made matches by wholesale. The young women were given free transportation, of course, the object being to make homes in Manitoba and thus secure the permanent settlement of the country. Incidentally the natural increase of the population was provided for. I remember one man who drove over seven hundred miles to get a wife. He was present when a trainload of girls arrived and spotted the young woman he wanted offhand. Within seven minutes after the train came in the pair were united in matrimony and the bridegroom started away with his bride in a buckboard wagon."

Man's Microscopic Friends.

[American Druggist.]

The advances in sanitary and therapeutic science have placed methods at our disposal whereby disease may be warded off, but it was not until Elie Mentschikoff elaborated and promulgated his theory as to the functions of the leucocytes, that it became known that in his fight for life man possessed a host of active and aggressive allies. In the bodies of all vertebrates, in addition to the cells constituting the animal tissues, there are a number of free cells, embracing white corpuscles of the blood and lymph and the so-called wandering cells of the tissues.

These are known as leucocytes, of which four varieties have been described, the distinctions being based chiefly on their nuclei. All the leucocytes have the distinctive characteristic of simple amœbæ. They protrude pseudopodia or feelers, they move about and are endued to a high degree with a capacity for ingesting all kinds of small granules, including various smaller micro-organisms, the constituents of which are assimilated by the protoplasm of the leucocytes. Sometimes, however, the smaller micro-organisms remain alive within the leucocytes, and when exposed to conditions favorable to the smaller and unfavorable to the larger organisms, the smaller develop and are set free. In some cases the leucocytes expel the invading bacteria through the skin, causing the phenomena of transpiration.

The act and efficiency of the leucocytes are closely dependent upon the health of their host. If the host be narcotized or be subjected to cold or shock, the leucocytes lose their efficiency and the host also loses immunity from infectious diseases.

Upon these facts, Mentschikoff has based his theory that the leucocytes act as a defensive army, repelling the attacks of noxious microbes, and this theory offers an explanation of phenomena otherwise inexplicable, as, for instance, the great difference in the great susceptibility to infectious diseases among persons who are submitted to the same degree of danger of infection.

"The fairy tales of science" have but few more interesting chapters than that on leucocytes, for here at last is supplied the active power for good represented in more primitive times by the invincible knight and the fairy godmother.

A Unique Proposal.

Among her first patients was a young man with a broken arm and an attractive appearance. The demure, white-capped nurse began to take an unusual interest in him, and asked him if there was nothing she could do for him—no book she could read, no letter she could write. The patient gracefully accepted the latter offer, and the nurse prepared to write from his dictation. He began with a tender address to his "dearest love," and the little nurse felt slightly embarrassed. But she continued through the most ardent declarations of all-absorbing affection to the and, where he wished to be subscribed an adoring lover for all time. Then she folded the letter and slipped it into its envelope.

"To whom shall I direct it?" she asked.

The wicked young fellow said amiably and even tenderly:

"What is your name, please?"

They have been married a little more than a year now.

A Modern Princess.

A happy princess, loved full well
By four brave knights of modern trim;
And yet the legends only tell
"Through all the world she followed him."

Who loved her first was straight, and lithe,
And tall, and strong. and clean of limb;
Of worldly pelf he had his tithe,
The princess might have followed him.

The second, or so runs the tale,
Was blessed with gifts time could not dim;
Did charms of intellect prevail!
And did the princess follow him?

The third lured love with shining gold,
This life is full of truths as grim,
And Cupid's darts are bought and sold;
Sweet princess, did she follow him?

The last—she could not sound his heart—
With happiness her cup would brim
Who won his love. The rest apart,
I hope the princess followed him.

Our tortured brains can find no light
"Beyond the utmost purple rim,
Beyond the day, across the night"
The princess followed—but which him?

A Stolen Visit.

This is her dainty room,
Where youth and beauty found their perfect bloom;
This is her cosy chair;
How oft her form has nestled softly there!
Here is her gleaming glass,
By which her graceful figure used to pass;
And, though she be away,
It seems her smiles are there, and still will stay.
These are her favorite books,
The pages longing for her loving looks.
Here is her happy bed,
The pillow where she nightly rests her head.
She comes—her step I know:
Bless thee, sweet room! Alas that I must go!

ADVERTISING —AT— ONE CENT A WORD.

On January 1, 1893, the rate for CLASSIFIED LINE ADVERTISING in THE TIMES was changed from 5 cents a line to ONE CENT PER WORD for each insertion. (No insertion for less than 15 cents.)

The change was made chiefly for convenience in calculation. Notwithstanding the fact that the bona fide circulation of THE TIMES has, within less than two years and a half, nearly doubled, the price of single-insertion 2-line notices (12 words) has been REDUCED FROM 25 CENTS TO 15 CENTS each, and advertisers now pay nothing for the ordinary blanks at the end.

On this plan, calculation by the advertiser himself is simple and easy, enabling him to send the exact amount of money necessary to secure the insertion of his advertisement for one, two, or any number of times. Postage stamps accepted by mail. Exact change given at the counter. Advertisements not accompanied by the full amount necessary to secure their insertion will be delayed or returned to the sender.

[COMPARATIVE RATES.—The word rate for Reading Notices each time is: Minion, 5 cents; double-leaded nonpareil, 4 cents; leaded nonpareil, 3½ cents; solid nonpareil with headings, 2½ cents; without headings, 1½ cents.]

CALIFORNIA'S eight Populists in the Legislature may be able to wag the dog, but we doubt it.

THOUSANDS of people are said to be roosting along the Cherokee strip, ostensibly to settle, but more likely they want to see how it looks after it is stripped.

A TWIN brother of Fresno's famous petrified man has been dug up in Nebraska. Another waste of cement and sand, for the suckers have all been worked out.

TALKING about conundrums—say!

Those heavy old electric cars
Are like these Columbian stamps of ours?

FROM present appearances Senator David B. Hill is about to become a man without a party, as the Tammany crowd has gone over to Grover, body, boots and breeches. David B. realizes this winter more strongly than ever that this is a hard world.

AN editor over in Kansas took out a marriage license for another fellow, and the boys came out with horns, bells and horse-fiddles and charivarid him for three mortal hours. The next time he will probably let the groom do business with the county clerk in person.

THE deadly street railway curve ought to go. This thing of having four or five car lines intersect at the meanest, narrowest and crookedest corner in the town is mighty poor policy, and a reform should be had in the situation instanter. Who is to be the next victim?

THAT "well" in the capitol at Sacramento is not one of the kind that has an "old oaken bucket, an iron-bound bucket," etc., hanging in it. On the contrary, quite the reverse, and the movement to clean it out is a commendable one. More power to the elbow of Mr. Bledsoe of Humboldt!

A BILL bas been introduced into the Legislature to place lawyers and applicants for saloon licenses on the same footing. Both must be persons of good moral character. It is certainly high time that members of one kind of bar should not be given advantage over knights of the other kind, and the bill ought to pass right away, quick.

THE San Francisco Examiner has been examining into the orange question at the big fair in that town, and makes the astonishing discovery of a new breed, called the "Washington Navel," which constrains the populace in this end of the State to ring the chestnut bell with both hands. The so-called "Washington Navel" has been known among all intelligent orange-growers, dealers and consumers for years and years. The Examiner should get out into the real orange belt and read up on the subject before making such bad breaks.

SPRING and First streets in this city is the deadliest corner in the United States, and will remain so until that cable-car track is changed to First and Main streets, where it naturally belongs. The compound curve made necessary by the contour of the street, makes the situation complex and dangerous, and now that a fatal accident has at last happened there, as everybody has been expecting it would, sooner or later, a movement to remove the cable line from Spring street to Main should at once be made. As the city grows, and as street travel increases, the danger increases in equal ratio, and a change should be made before any more people are killed or maimed at that awful corner.

The America of Today.

How different is the America of today from that of a hundred years ago! A century's progress has lifted the American people immeasurably above the plane of civilization occupied by the leading nations in 1793. Life has broadened in every direction, through the aid of new discoveries, and the various practical applications made of the principles of science. Old grooves of thought, in which the minds of men plodded generation after generation, have been overleaped, new paths have been mapped out, and American life is characterized by that indomitable push and energy which universally precedes and accompanies progress.

Take an intelligent and cultured American of these latter days of the nineteenth century, and set him down in the midst of surroundings like those which marked the close of the last century, and he would feel no more content than he would among the savagery of the Apache. Compel him to live in the time when the New England Puritans were burning witches and promulgating their "blue laws," and he would have nothing in common with the sentiment of the period. Confine him also to the old modes of travel; take from him the railroad, the telegraph and the telephone; deprive him of his daily newspaper and the daily mail; take away the electric lights from the public thoroughfares of the city, or the gas from its streets and homes and public buildings; destroy the stores of kerosene, and with his books at evening give him but the whale-oil lamp or the tallow dip; for his rest at night give him the old-fashioned feather bed or the tick of straw in place of the healthful and comfortable modern spring mattress; take from him the monthly magazines and quarterlies which epitomize for him the world's thoughts and deeds; pull down the thousand walls of our benevolent institutions; destroy our museums and public libraries, and the great book-publishing houses of the country; burn our photograph galleries and astronomical observatories; hush the wheels of the ten thousand new industries that have been born within the last half century; take up the rails that span the continent, linking our Atlantic and Pacific borders; pull down the poles which support the wires by means of which we are in speaking distance with every part of the land; lift the great ocean cables and put the doings of the old world an ocean's distance from our shores; take from our seas and lakes and rivers the swift steamships which traverse them, banish our cable and electric street cars, and in a measure we should resurrect the life of our earlier American civilization and live amid the environment of a century ago, and who of us all, familiar with the life of today, would be satisfied or consider it a civilization of which we might be proud?

So gradually, yet continuously, have these changes been wrought, that we do not fully appreciate the vastness of all that has been accomplished, but there is a wide, wide distance, broader than all the years, between the American Republic of the Then and Now.

And not less than our intellectual and scientific achievements have been our moral ones. Slavery, that black blot upon earlier American history, has been wiped out, and polygamy, that other "twin relic of barbarism," has been virtually extinguished. Cities and towns have been planted all the way across the continent, and with them have followed the public school, the church and the printing press. The daily newspaper has become a necessity of our civilization, and there is no town or hamlet in the whole land so solitary that it may not be found there.

The American people of today are a reading people, in touch with the whole world of modern thought and progress. They are quick at invention, quick to adopt improvements, and to improve upon what has been invented by others. It will be an education to us all to attend the World's Fair next summer at Chicago, and study the story of our advancement as it will be presented there within the mammoth buildings that will shelter our exhibits, and no American will have cause to blush at the comparisons which will there be shown of the progress of our own and other lands. The civilized world already regards this young and growing Republic with astonishment, but the object lessons which will be presented for the world's consideration at Chicago will illustrate grander truths than the old monarchies have yet comprehended, for they will show, beyond all possibility of controversion, that American freedom is the parent of all growth, and of such prosperity and progress as has never been equaled in the world's history. In them also will be found the strongest possible argument for the benefits of self-government and individual sovereignty, and the result can but be a quickening among the masses in other lands of that desire, which is already stirring, for more freedom and independence and progress.

SPEAKING of monkeys and parrots, they aren't in it, when it comes to getting up a lively time, along with a Kansas legislature.

AMUSEMENTS.

AT THE PLAYHOUSES.

COMING ATTRACTION.—Jolly little Fanny Rice, always a prime local favorite, will appear at the Grand tomorrow and Wednesday evening with her own company of singers and comedians in her new musical comedy, A Jolly Surprise. This piece will be preceded by Offenbach's one-act operatta, The Little Broom Seller, with Miss Rice in the title rôle, all of which, we are assured, means an hour of light opera and two hours of roaring comedy. The company is said to be a superior one, and Miss Rice's business has been phenomenally large everywhere.

MODEST EVENING BODICES.

[From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.]

A low neck certainly lends dressiness to a gown. You may have a prejudice against the fashion, or your neck may not be pretty. In the latter case, you can always put in a smooth yoke of tulle, and if the thinness is very apparent sew the tulle with good sized pearls. Let the yoke end so that the row of pearls at the edge looks like a string of pearls about the throat. When the gown is of light color you have all the elegance of a low neck, and the dress is not "trying." A once famous actress, whose neck was very beautiful, invariably wore a smooth yoke of wash blond in her evening dresses. She maintained that it gave a softer look to even a beautiful skin, and that it was more modest. It is quite permissible to put a yoke of pink or cream silk into a gown to simulate a bare neck. The yoke is finished with a high collar of the same silk, and the dressy effect is secured without anything like suggestiveness. Such a gown may have, like the one in the engraving, short puffed sleeves met in the orthodox way by long gloves. The most fastidiously prudent could not object to such a dress, and yet it has none of the ascetic look that makes so many girls conspicuous when they mean only to be modest and retiring. The rest of the bodice can be of any color and material you like and it may be heavily embroidered. This is an excellent plan if you want the comfortable waist of common sense, and are not prepared to take it in empire style. The lining of embroidery can give slenderness of effect that will again save you from seeming conspicuous. The plain skirt can be embroidered around the edge. With such a dress you may even wear your hair straight back, and you will look quite like other people and neither fly in the face of their prejudices or your own.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

As to Voting.

UNIVERSITY, Jan. 13, 1893.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] All concur in the opinion that the Porter election law, taken as a whole, is a good one, but the November election served to show its weak points, and there is one that suggests itself to me which I have not seen touched upon.

It relates to the printing of ballots in cases where there is a fusion ticket in the field. Many people in the November election stamped opposite the fusion candidate's name wherever it appeared on the ballot, and in doing so followed their construction of the instruction, "Vote for one." They did vote for one—one man, and of course their ballots were thrown out, although the intention of the voter was perfectly apparent.

Would it not be well to make such mistakes impossible? When a convention nominates a man who has been nominated for the same office by a previous convention make it the duty of the proper officers to certify to that fact, and then print his name on the ballots once and on the same line the names of all parties nominating him.

It seems to me this method would secure a better expression of the will of the people, which all good citizens desire, regardless of its effect upon particular parties or candidates.

Yours respectfully, W. J. O'BRIEN.

She Spoke Right Out in School.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 15.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] It appears, from THE TIMES of today, that Miss Peter of Pomona created a little stir among the teachers convened in Los Angeles yesterday by reading a paper in which she told them that people engaged in their occupation were apt to wear something of an air of superior knowledge and authority out of school as well as in it. People generally will incline to agree with Miss Peter, in thinking that her co-laborers in a most useful and praiseworthy occupation would add to their winsomeness and their usefulness if they would heed her kind and shrewd suggestions, though these are only a little needed. The phrase, "opinionated as a school-ma'am," will not continue to have any meaning when they all say, in accord with Miss Peter's hints (supposing it possible for school-ma'ams to use such English,) "We ain't proud." INSTANT DEATH.

Frightful Accident at First and Spring Streets.

Father Jameson Run Over by a Cable Train Dummy.

His Neck Broken and the Body Terribly Multilated.

The Disaster Witnessed by Several Hundred People—The Victim One of the Best-known Ministers in the State.

A frightful accident occurred at the corner of First and Spring streets yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, resulting in the instant death of Rev. James M. Jameson, one of the oldest and best-known ministers in the Southern part of the State, by being run over by a Downey avenue cable train.

All Los Angeles citizens are familiar with the figure of the white-haired old patriarch with his long, snowy beard, who, in spite of his 86 years, walked the streets with an elastic step. For more than half a century Father Jameson was an active minister of the Gospel in the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was loved and honored, and today is mourned by brother ministers throughout the city and State.

Mr. Jameson was on his way to the Vincent Methodist Church to attend a special service for old people, and was just in the act of crossing over toward the Nadeau corner of the street when the accident occurred. A Downey-avenue train was just rounding the curve coming west on First street at the usual rapid rate, as the old man started across toward the Nadeau corner. He did not see the car approaching, and had just about cleared the first track when the sounding of the gong and a cry from passers-by aroused him. Instead of going forward, as every one expected that he would, Mr. Jameson seemed at a loss to know from which direction the car was coming, and retreated backward just in time to be struck by the oncoming dummy. The gripman applied the brakes with all possible speed, but the train could not be stopped in time to prevent the accident. The old man was knocked down, and was caught under the dummy, the body being crushed and mutilated in a frightful manner. When the train was stopped and the body removed it was found that life was extinct. In fact, death had been instantaneous, the neck having been broken. Both arms and one leg were also broken, and there were numerous cuts and bruises on the body.

The disaster was witnessed by a large number of people, and the news of the accident was borne swiftly to the First Methodist Church, where he habitually attended. The congregation was just gathering for the morning service, and the pastor, Rev. Dr. Campbell, accompanied by E. R. Bradley, hurried to the scene, scarce believing that the victim could be the beloved Father Jameson. At once identifying him they tenderly lifted the mangled and bleeding form from the pavement and placed it in the coffin, the body being removed to the undertaking parlors of Garrett & Samson, where the inquest will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock. The date of the funeral had not been decided last evening.

Mr. Jameson was well-known in this city, and, in fact, throughout all Southern California, as a much respected member of the Methodist ministry. He formerly resided at Orange, where he filled most acceptably several ministerial appointments, afterward removing to this city. Here he has since resided at No. 809 Court street with his wife and youngest child. He was 86 years of age.

Mrs. Jameson, when apprised of the shocking death of her husband, was completely prostrated by the shock.

The News at Orange.

ORANGE, Jan. 15.—[Special.] Rev. J. M. Jameson, who was killed yesterday in Los Angeles, at the corner of First and Spring streets, by a cable car, is an old and respected citizen of Orange. He lived here for several years, having moved to Los Angeles only a little over two years ago, and he has a large circle of acquaintances and friends in Orange county.

Mrs. H. Z. Adams, who lives one-half mile east of Orange, is Mrs. Jameson's mother. She knew nothing of the sad ending of her son-in-law until the information was taken to her by a representative of the press. She left on the evening train for Los Angeles.

James P. Browne of Santa Ana is a grandson of Mr. Jameson. He was notified yesterday of his grandfather's death.

Mrs. Jameson, wife of the unfortunate man, is well known in literary circles in Orange and Los Angeles counties, having at different times written serial stories for local papers and for THE SATURDAY TIMES AND WEEKLY MIRROR.

THE STREET CROSSINGS.

The Necessity of Increased Police Supervision—Lessons of the Accident.

The principal street crossings in the center of this city are a never-failing source of interest to observers. There occur some fatal accidents, like that of yesterday at the corner of First and Spring, as well as many narrow escapes from injury. There, too, ludicrous and laughable scenes are enacted almost every day.

When Los Angeles, in years gone by, jogged along contentedly with bobtail cars, the narrow and tortuous streets, then considered wide enough for all traffic, were never overcrowded with foot passengers and vehicles. But when by very rapid strides the city left the chrysalis state to become a gay metropolitan butterfly, the aspect of the streets changed. The transformation of the horse-car into a cable-car system and the widening of the sidewalks took away so much of the width of thoroughfares like Spring street as to make the driving of a buggy or dray almost an artistic piece of skill. Then came the advent of the electric system, and cars began to run in such bewildering succession, down one track and up the other, that it became a very confusing matter to the rural and suburban horse as well as to his driver.

This seeming confusion, however, is seen at its greatest height at a few of the crossings where cars running in several directions are constantly meeting and giving right-of-way to each other at the crossroads.

It became then necessary to put these crossings under police supervision, to regulate fast driving, watch over careless or absent-minded pedestrians, and prevent intoxicated ones from immolating themselves in a vain attempt to dispute for precedence with heavy cable cars and heavier electric conveyances.

Guardians of the peace were placed at the intersections of Spring and First street, Main and First, and at the junction of Temple, Spring and Main streets, and the officers who guard these thoroughfares and implicitly follow their instructions have their hands very full during their hours of duty.

Almost every man has an idea, which he is not always willing, on account of innate modesty, to proclaim loudly, that he would make an ideal policeman, and many a man, after giving the business a trial, has been retired much against his will, still cherishing that idea, but grumbling against his chief and the Police Commissioners, who were obtuse enough not to appreciate his qualifications, that to himself were so apparent. But in truth few men are physically and mentally fitted to become guardians of the peace, because the prerequisites in this line of work, especially in a city of the size of Los Angeles, are coolness, politeness, firmness and a conciliatory manner whenever there is a chance of overlooking an offense that was neither grave nor apparently committed with malice prepense.

How many an officer can bear witness to the fact that in the discarge of his duty he has been threatened by an irate individual with the removal of his star! How many a one has been dragged before the commissioners on charges that would not hold water, and how many another has been hounded until he gave up his place in disgust, or was finally dismissed, owing to the pressure that was brought to bear against him, just simply because he had not all the essential qualities enumerated above!

While every police officer needs to be clear-headed and cool, those requisites are especially to be looked for in the guardian of the street crossing, because there these qualities are drawn upon at all hours during the busy period of the day, and a moment's inattention may cause an accident.

There is the crossing at the corner of Spring street and First, for instance—the scene of the dreadful accident of Sunday morning—where two cable car tracks, two tracks for electric cars and two horse car tracks unceasingly vomit forth their loaded vehicles in six different directions. There, too, is the heaviest traffic in carriages, and crowds of people attending to business or pleasure. To a person new to such incessant advents of whirling, crunching, creeking cars, going at a great rate of speed, it seems almost an impossibility that a quarter of an hour can pass by without somebody being killed or maimed, or a buggy demolished until nothing but splinters remain. It is to prevent such calamities that the policeman is stationed there, and it can at a glance be seen that he has his hands full while regulating traffic. It would not, however, be so bad as it is if the cars belonging to the cable lines could all regulate their speed. Those of the Downey avenue system involve the greatest peril, because they make a very sharp curve when rounding into First street from Spring, and vice-versa. When the cable cars first began to run the speed on that curve appeared terrific, and it is still a source of alarm to scores people.

It was there that a former chief of police covered himself with glory by jumping on a car and telling the gripman that if he went around that curve faster than a walk he would arrest him for hard driving.

It is at the crossings that the officer must look out for people who drive their horses too fast, in order to avoid accidents to pedestrians and collisions with street cars. The people of the city who use buggies have been educated up to the necessity of going slow at the crossings, but strangers from the country invariably whip up there as if afraid that they otherwise may be crushed to death.

It is here that the officer has a good field to display his coolness and courtesy, but the latter quality is sometimes lacking. Too often it has appeared that an irascible guardian of the peace has allowed his temper to get the best of him, and arraigned the offender, who was unaware of the enormity of his offense, in terms more forcible than polite, and dragged him off to the Police Court to be fined.

There is a good story told of one officer, who had by his overbearing conduct so annoyed a prominent citizen that when he became a police commissioner he swore a great big oath that he would lop off that policeman's helmeted head. But he always believed the man's name to be other than it really was, and when his enemy was proposed for reappointment, this same commissioner moved that he be retained, much to his disgust when he learned what he had done.

The supervision of the crossing on First and Main is not near so arduous a task as the others, because Main street is wide, and its car traffic consists only of horse lines, while there is but half the number of cable cars coming down First street that there is at the junction of Spring.

The crossing which keeps the officer most on the jump is that at the junction of Temple, Spring and Main streets, the most crooked corner in the city, and far too narrow for the travel that is done there. Here is the terminus of the Temple street cable, and here, too, pass electric cars from University and those that take in the Southern Pacific depot, as well as the cable cars to and from Downey avenue.

Officers, owing to the strain, probably, to their nerves, do not remain a very long time consecutively at these crossings, so that the ordinary observer has a good chance to become acquainted with the peculiarities of each one. There have been men with fiery tempers, who would fly up and down like fleas in a sock, fret themselves into dyspepsia, and after all their fuss really accomplish nothing; others, again, cool and self-collected, who did their work quietly and well; then there were those who let their crossings take care of themselves, while they chatted on the sidewalk, until the Sergeant hove in sight; and again there was a genius, who, although he took excellent care of his beat, always found time for a little chat or flirt with the many ladies of his acquaintance who found it necessary to cross his beat.

The Temple street crossing has seen the fewest changes, although it is such a busy one. For a long time it was guarded by Officer Weatherman, who, although advanced in years, performed his duties very creditably. He was succeeded by Officer Dunn, who has managed to retain all the good will that his predecessor earned before him. That corner is especially dangerous to foot passengers because of the crookedness of Spring street at that point, and, until part of the Downey Block is razed to widen the junction, this point must always remain a perilous place, and here cool-headedness comes most into play to drag away absent-minded men and women from in front of the cars.

Yet with all the bustle, noise, speed and curves of the street-car lines, and the hundreds of vehicles that pass and repass the junctions, it is a matter of surprise that so few accidents, either to persons or carriages, have happened at the crossings. That this is mainly due to the watchfulness of the officers stationed there cannot be gainsaid.

There is reason to believe that an officer will be soon placed at the corner of Spring and Second streets—a dangerous crossing—and it would probably be equally wise to have one at the crossing of Main and Second streets.

THE CHURCH OF THE "NEW ERA."

A Large Audience Greets Rev. Mr. Bowman at the Los Angeles Theater.

The first meeting of the Church of the New Era was held Sunday afternoon at the Los Angeles Theater. A large audience greeted Rev. W. C. Bowman, as he advanced to the front of the stage to conduct the services of the new church.

It is no trivial thing to enter upon the church work of the New Era, said the speaker, and it is only because of earnest conviction of the needs of such a movement that it is undertaken. Man is a worm, but is also a god, and the work we have undertaken is to save the bodies of men as well as their souls—soul saving is not the only object in life.

No; there is a beauty and completeness in thus taking charge of all interests—from the lowest wants to the highest aspirations of humanity. The best and surest way to make the most out of the next life is to make the most of this. Make the earth as much like heaven as possible, a place of justice, of comfort and of plenty.

We propose not a new doctrine, but a new method; for we hold that the church should concern itself with the "here" and "now," and deal with earthly problems that are demanding solution.

In the advancement of universal truth for its own sake we will draw from all sources. We will seize upon truth wherever found, from the wisdom and words of admonition of the older prophets, and from the inspired lips of the Nazarene. From Zend Avesta and Vedas, from history sacred and profane.

Of charity the speaker said: Almsgiving is the money the robber gives to conciliate his victim. It is the offspring of injustice; yet by pulpit and pew it is spoken of as the ornament and glory of Christian civilization. Cease to classify the poor as such; to isolate and pen them by themselves, to bear the stamp and stigma of pauperdom, when simple justice would destroy the very meaning of the word.

The creed of the future will not be composed of thirty-nine articles, nor will it be the apostolic creed; but will read something like this: "We believe in the final victory of the right; that it is wrong for the few to have more than they need and more than they earn, while the many have less than they need or earn. Usufruct is wrong whether acquired by shrewdness, inheritance or law."

Churchmen, do you believe in this primitive Christianity? Christians, are you ready to be Christians? To work as well as pray "Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as well as heaven?"

Miss Grace Walker sang a solo in a very sweet voice, after which the announcement was made that a meeting would be held Monday night at Opera-house Hall to make arrangements for future meetings and to complete the organization of the church.

LAID TO REST.

Funeral Services of Mrs. E. S. Woodward Yesterday Afternoon.

The flutter of crape at No. 845 South Hill street yesterday was the symbol of a heavy sorrow that has fallen with crushing weight on a multitude of hearts who mourn the death of Mrs. E. S. Woodward, wife of the well-known lawyer, M. F. Woodward of this city. The particulars of the sad circumstances of her death appeared in yesterday's TIMES. The funeral service occurred at 2 p.m. at the above number, and in the dimly lighted rooms from which the sunlight had been shut away, sat a throng of friends on whom the hush of a great sorrow had fallen. There was not an indifferent or a curious one there; the trace of tears on sad faces told eloquently of a tribute of love and esteem paid to one whose bright, sunny life, full of kindness and inspiration shed sunshine all about her.

In accordance with the expressed wish of Mrs. Woodward, the service was of the simplest kind, no eulogy at all being pronounced for her of whom so much could have been justly said. A male quartette sang, without accompaniment, a hymn with the blessed refrain "Nearer, my God, to Thee" running through it, and then Rev. Dr. Chichester, who was her pastor, read selections from the scriptures, which expressed far better than any words could have done the comfort God gives His bereaved. A prayer, the simplicity and faith of which accorded exactly with the sentiments of the life of her over whose casket it was offered, the hymn "Abide With Me," and the benediction concluded the simple service which was as she would have had it.

A long line of carriages followed the hearse to Rosedale, where, in a grave lined with greens and flowers, the precious burden was laid away "till He shall come."

Mrs. Woodward was an active and efficient member of the Ladies' Benevolent Society of the Free Kindergarten Association, and has always been prominently identified with the charitable organizations of the city. In literary circles she shone as the brightest star in the firmament. She had her place in society, and yet was capable of a complete individual existence outside of it. To the invalid husband she was all and all, her devotion and cheery hope being a constant inspiration. And so the life which had all of sweetness and joy, of activity and Christian grace in it has, by a swift translation, returned to Him whose by right it was.

Good-night.

Good-night! I have to say good-night
To such a host of peerless things!
Good-night unto that fragile hand,
All queenly with its weight of rings,
Good-night to fond uplifted eyes,
Good-night to chestnut braids of hair,
Good-night unto the perfect mouth,
And all the sweetness nestled there!
The snowy hand detains me—then
I'll have to say good-night again.

But there will come a time, my love,
When, if I read our stars aright,
I shall not linger by this porch
With my adieus. Till then, good-night.
You wish the time were now? And I.
You do not blush to wish it so?
You would have blushed yourself to death
To own so much a year ago.
What! both these snowy hands? Ah! then,
I'll have to say good-night again.

The Three Kisses.

The purest kiss
In the world is this—
The kiss that a mother lays
On her child's fresh lips
As he blithely trips
To meet the world and its ways.

The sweetest kiss
In the world is this—
The first long kiss of love,
When time is not,
And earth's forgot,
And Eden drops from above.

The saddest kiss
In the world is this—
The kiss on unanswering clay,
When dead lips tell
We must sob farewell
Till the dawn of the judgment day.

AT THE CHURCHES.

Services at the East Side Presbyterian Church.

Work Accomplished by Rev. Mr. Laverty the Past Year.

At the Central and Union Avenue Methodist Churches—Bishop Nichols at St. John's Episcopal Church—Interesting Services.

Alighting from a Downey avenue car at the corner of Daly street yesterday morning, the TIMES church reporter followed a throng of worshipers into a neat little church, which turned out to be the Second Presbyterian, in charge of Rev. L. F. Laverty, through whose ministrations some one hundred members have been added during the eleven months of his pastorate. The pews, providing for three hundred or more sittings, speedily filled, and chairs had to be placed in the aisles to accommodate the congregation.

The rites of baptism were administered to one child and an adult, the earnest words of the pastor in connection with this ceremony being peculiarly appropriate and impressive. Six members were also received into the church on profession of faith. A week ago sixteen united with the church as a result of the recent spiritual awakening there.

The singing was exceptionally good, rendered by a trio—Mr. and Mrs. Sumner and Mrs. Davis—whose voices are so wonderfully sweet and well blended as to attract instant attention. The trio, "He Shall Feed His Flock," was especially beautiful.

The congregation read alternately with the pastor the morning Psalms, fifteenth and sixteenth, and the minister read the morning lesson from Luke x, afterward preaching from the text found in Psalms xvi, 8, speaking extemporaneously throughout.

He began by saying that conviction is of two kinds—the conviction born of an emergency and the conviction born of experience. Belief is conviction only in germ. Faith is conviction that matures. There are times of emergency in the lives of every man and woman when they have seen God, but that kind of experience doesn't help a man much unless it leads up to his having God always before his face. We must have the organ of spiritual sight awakened that we may see God and must cultivate the habit of having Him before us constantly.

The trend of the sermon was to bring out clearly the central principle of religion, which is the person of Jesus Christ, who is to it what the lever is to machinery; what the magnetism is which holds the planets in equilibrium and the force which keeps them whirling in space.

It is the intention of the church to enlarge their building soon and double its seating capacity. The main entrance will then be from Daly street, and the pulpit will be removed to the side of the church facing Downey avenue.

FIRST METHODIST.

Yesterday was educational day at the First Methodist Church, and Dean Matthew presented the claims of the University of Southern California so ably as to raise nearly eight hundred dollars for the benefit of that institution.

In the evening Rev. Dr. Campbell preached to an immense congregation from Colossians iii, 3, on the subject of "The Hidden Life." The preliminary song service, which is a feature of each Sunday evening, is most attractive and has come to be very popular, many people, who are not regular attendants at church, being lured by these sacred half-hour concerts, and how often "a thread of song finds him whom a sermon flies."

Next Friday evening the ladies of the church will hold a social, to which strangers especially are invited. It will afford an opportunity of getting acquainted. There will be no stiffness or formality, but a regular Methodist hand-shake. On Monday evening, January 23, an officer of the Salvation Army will depict the social side of army life at this church.

CENTRAL METHODIST CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Garton, D. D., State superintendent of the Children's Home Society, preached at Central Methodist Church yesterday morning. His text was from II Cor. viii, 9; "the poverty of Christ that has made His followers rich." At the close of the sermon he presented the claims of the society of which he is superintendent, and illustrated the good that the society is doing by a little lad in the congregation, who, recently abandoned in this city by his mother, has been transformed in his appearance by the care of the Christian people into whose home he has been received.

The solo of the morning service was Lindsay's "Not a Sparrow Falleth," rendered by Miss Williams. The words, distinctly spoken, only emphasized the words of the discourse, the exceeding mindfulness of the Lord for His own. Three were received on probation in the church. The pastor, Rev. Francis M. Larkin, preached in the evening to the unconverted on "Consider Your Ways."

UNION AVENUE METHODIST.

Rev. I. L. Spencer, pastor of Union Avenue M. E. Church, preached a sermon in his pulpit yesterday at 11 a.m. of great strength and beauty, upon the subject of "Providence: Its Laws and Lessons," from Acts vii, 9: "And the patriarchs, moved with envy, sold Joseph into Egypt, but God was with him."

The speaker began by saying that an envious spirit God hates. Enviousness is a sin as great or worse than covetousness. Joseph, the beloved son of Jacob, being the favorite of his father, was envied by his brethren, who sold him into Egypt. All Bible readers know the various trials through which he passed, until he reached the exalted position, second only to the King. Humanly speaking, we can see no providence in the way his brothers disposed of him, but when his brethren in after years came into his presence, bowed as the sheaves, which he predicted, that so enraged them, he said: "Be not angry with yourselves, for the Lord sent me before you to preserve life." God makes us and places us in this world. It is as much a divine fact that He places us as it is that He makes us. It is most difficult, not to say impossible, to recognize when and where the divine hand withholds and the human hand comes in; or, if you choose, where the supernatural ends and the natural begins. There are two universes—the realm of matter and the domain of mind. There are two sides to our subject—the God side and the man-side—the law-side and the lesson-side.

Providence is God's arrangement and supervision of things both moral and material. There is neither piety nor philosophy in making a distinction between a particular and general providence. If the providence of God extends with any degree of certainty, and with any good results, to things in their general nature, it extends to everything.

There is a species of practical infidelity in the world today, which is one of the greatest evils of our age, one of the deepest and direst secrets of our misery: The acknowledgement of God's existence with the excission of His practical, personal omnipresence—granting His being, but divesting it of its infinity, and assigning it to a distant and prescribed locality. A local God is no God at all.

The guide and God of individuals is also the guide and God of families and nationalities. The footsteps of Jehova are written in lines of light along the pathway of nations. His name is found in the dust of Ninevah and the ruins of Thebes. Our varied positions in life are so many providences. God makes no little things. Every act of His power, every creature of His government, is fraught with significant interest, is big with eternity.

God and Enoch walked and talked together on earth, and God took his earthly companion into a nearer and sweeter union with Himself. Earth was too mean to entomb him, the sky too narrow to shroud him. Our situation in life is definitely designated. Our localities are God-drawn, our homes God-built. God assigns each his place, but leaves to him the disposition to receive it or reject it. Every man is a prisoner in the Lord's capacity, Jesus beneath the shed of Nazareth, shoving the plane and wiping the sweat-drops of labor from His divine brow, teaches us the lesson of self-resignation. Contented with our allotment, God never fails to yield His presence and protection; remaining quietly there, we shall find it a place where angels abide, and a vigilant heaven holds the keys, and converts that sick-bed or the prison-chamber into a Patmos and opens for its view scenes celestial.

God's way is best. Moses did not understand why he should quit the dictatorship of his people and flee into the deserts of Arabia, and remain there for forty years, but there was a divine why. Daniel learned the lesson of dependence in the lion's den. Paul learned the same lesson in the basket of Damascus. Bunyan in the jail learned that he was in a high and holy sense the prisoner of God. We had never read a "Pilgrim's Progress" but for the imprisonment of England's poor, unlettered preacher. John Milton caught the inspiration of "Paradise Lost" and "Regained" amid the darkness of his blindness, and has transmitted to posterity a poem that will ever stand an immortal monument to the living powers of human genius. Jacob failed to see at first the hand of God in the bloody robe of his son Joseph. Joseph failed to see any divine intervention in the hopeless pit, though the throne of Egypt was in sight. Years rolled grandly and graciously on toward the sublime revealement of the most precious facts in the lives of both—in the life of the whole family.

God's way is best. There was a royal road from home to the throne, though it led by way of the pit through persecution and the prison. Cheer up, Jacob! Thy sadness and thy sackcloth shall be thrown aside. At evening time it shall be light. "Joseph is yet alive." If Joseph does not come back to the humble home of Jacob, Jacob shall go to the royal throne of his son Joseph.

At the conclusion of the sermon, a number of members were received into the church. Since a large portion of its indebtedness has been paid, and its property improved, this church has taken on new like.

Last Friday evening a very interesting musical entertainment was given at the church. The audience was large and appreciative. Misses Miles and Bussmore delighted every one with their singing. Misses Matie and Lulu Williams should especially be mentioned for the satisfactory and skilful way in which they rendered their instrumental solos and duets. Miss Gertrude Finney recited two selections in her very natural and easy manner, which charmed the audience. In fact, all who participated did well. It was also a financial success.

TEMPLE STREET CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

At the Temple Street Christian Church Rev. William Bayard Craig, of Broadway Christian Church, Denver, Colo., preached to a packed house powerful sermon on "The Progress in the Christian World," tracing the growth of the great ideas of the Christian faith as they lay hold upon and uplift Christian civilization. He also referred in stirring terms to the great spirit of fraternity and generosity that is impregnating the Christian world. Mr. Craig is a very prominent man in his church, and his sermon was highly enjoyed by all. In the evening the pastor, Rev. A. C. Smither, preached upon the "Offering of Isaac" to an interested audience.

ST. JOHN'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

This beautiful church, on Adams street, was not only filled to the doors yesterday morning, but over one hundred people were unable to gain admittance. Rt. Rev. Bishop Nichols preached a very able and eloquent sermon.

It was a sermon full of beautiful thoughts and high purpose, and an ordinary report would fail to do justice to it. After the sermon the Bishop confirmed a class of twenty-three persons, two of whom had been reared in the Roman Catholic Church, and several others in the Protestant denominations. Mrs. Bloodgood, the well-known contralto singer of St. John's choir, rendered Mendelssohn's exquisite creation, "O Rest in the Lord," with great taste and feeling. The Bishop, in closing the service, expressed himself as highly pleased with the evidences of progress which he saw in the parish and complimented the rector and vestry and congregation on their beautiful services and crowded church.

ENGLISH LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Rev. M. H. Stine's discourse last evening at the English Lutheran Church, corner Eighth and Flower streets, on the subject, "Is Christ Divine?" was a most eloquent oration, and one that called forth the closest attention from his large audience. This sermon was a continuation of the previous Sunday's subject, that "No man is justified by the deeds of the law, for in order to be justified by the deeds of the law a man must keep the whole law at all times. No sane man will say that he never sins, therefore if man is redeemed at all, his redemption must be a vicarious redemption, that is, it must be the work of one who has never himself sinned. This alone is proof of Christ's divinity. But we do not depend upon reasons," said the speaker "to prove that Christ is divine—it is a matter of revelation. If we say that we do not believe Christ divine because we do not understand the mystery of Godliness, we cannot believe anything. There is not a subject in the whole realm of knowledge, so called, which does not have its mysteries. Science has never unraveled all the mysteries connected with the life of the lily any more than it has unraveled the mysteries connected with the stars that gem the night."

The speaker continued his argument of the divinity of Christ by reciting passage after passage from the sacred scriptures, setting forth the doctrine in a clear and unmistakable light.

PACIFIC GOSPEL UNION ANNIVERSARY.

The first anniversary meeting of the Pacific Gospel Union was held at Gospel Union Hall, No. 431 South Spring street, on last Friday evening. A crowded house testified to the place the mission holds in the hearts of the Christian people of Los Angeles, the only regret felt by any being the enforced absence through illness of the superintendent, Maj. George A. Hilton. Rev. O. B. Read, his assistant, conducted the service. Mr. A. W. Hare lead the song service, which was a pleasing feature of the evening, at the conclusion of which Mrs. J. B. Brown and Mr. Hare sang a duet very effectively.

The report of the superintendent for the past year showed a vast amount of good accomplished. The attendance upon the meetings held by the union has aggregated 77,208. These meetings have resulted in 501 known conversions. The attendance at the Sunday morning free breakfast has been 4671. Lodgings have been furnished free to those in need during seven months to 1291 persons, and 1071 meals have been supplied at the restaurants by the union, to persons who were hungry and unable to buy a meal. Physicians, nurses and medicine have been supplied to 191 persons.

The union also conducts an employment bureau, where, during the past year, 360 have been supplied with work.

The attendance upon the Sunday morning free breakfast averaged about one hundred and thirty-five.

A new feature of the work recently undertaken has been the appointment of several Bible women, whose mission it is to visit the homes of the poor and destitute and carry them the message of the gospel. A brief report was read by Miss Carver, giving a glimpse of the work accomplished by them during the past few months.

Following the report Mr. Hare sang a solo. Rev. Dr. Read, Rev. Dr. Stradley and Rev. Mr. Crabbe made short addresses expressing their sympathy with and appreciation of the work of the union, after which Mrs. Brown sang a solo very sweetly.

The assistant superintendent made an address, giving a few instances regarding the work of the union for the past year, and, in closing, expressed the thanks of the superintendent, board of directors and the many who had been materially aided by the union, to the Christian people of Los Angeles and vicinity for their sympathy and co-operation in the work. After a hymn the audience was dismissed.

The wrong way, with Catarrh, is to stop it without curing it. The poisonous, irritating snuffs, strong caustic solutions, "creams," balms and the like may, perhaps, palliate for a time. But they may drive the disease to the lungs.

The wrong way is full of danger.

The right way is a proved one. It's with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It cures, perfectly and permanently, by its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, the worst cases of Chronic Catarrh. It has proved itself right, thousands of times, when everything else has failed.

And this makes its proprietors willing to prove that it's the right thing for you, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing.

If they can't cure your Catarrh, they'll pay you $500 in cash.
They mean it.
They're certain of their medicine.
You pay only for the good you get.

Frank Child's Recent Victory at San Francisco.

How the Colored Pugilist Knocked Out "Soldier" Walker.

The White Man No Match for His Dusky Antagonist.

An English Football Team Coming to America—Billiard Championship Challenge—English Horses for American Events.

Frank Child, the pugilistic bootblack from this city, distinguished himself on Thursday evening last by whipping "Soldier" Walker at the Palo Alto Club, in San Francisco, in three rounds, with the greatest of ease.

The local man has a large number of admirers in this city, and the following account of his victory, from the San Francisco Chronicle, will doubtless prove of interest:

It begins to look as if they raise pugilists in Los Angeles as well as oranges. Solly Smith came to San Francisco, after defeating all the men in his class in the Southern Citrus Belt, and carried everything before him. Henry Peppers then appeared in the city and beat Zelner, and last night Frank Child, a colored heavyweight from the land of sunshine and flowers, thrashed "Soldier" Walker in three rounds at the Palo Alto Club.

The "Soldier" did not know what struck him. He only saw a very determined-looking colored man dash at him like a cyclone every few seconds. In the third round a right-arm swing on Walker's neck sent him to the floor, where he lay as motionless as if he had fallen out of a third-story window.

"Soldier" Walker was the first to enter the ring. He is rather an attenuated specimen. He scaled about one hundred and seventy-five pounds, and was attended by Tim McGrath, Joe King and Jack Kelley. The distinguished colored trio, Joe Cotton, the Black Pearl and Peppers, looked after the interest of Child. The latter is a thick-set, muscular exponent of the manly art. He also weighed about one hundred and seventy-five pounds. Harry Maynard was the referee.

At the sound of the gong both men came up and looked at one another for a few seconds All of a sudden Child rushed in like a whirlwind, but did not land effectively. The colored man kept up his tactics and had Walker nonplussed. The Los Angeles man got in a hot one on the jaw of his opponent and followed up his advantage with another in the region of the bread-basket. Some terrific smashing followed. Both men let go their right and left in windmill style, and both were tired at the end of the round from the hurricane fighting.

In the second round Child fought Walker to the ropes. Walker started in on the agressive, but his blows fell short. Child fought his opponent through the ropes and repeated the operation a few minutes later. The liveliest kind of a rally followed. There was an abundance of fighting at short range and the pugilists kept going long after the call of time.

The third round was short, sharp and decisive. Walker soon found out that he was overmatched and, like a drowning man clasping at a straw, he hugged the ropes. It was at this stage of the proceedings that Child got in his knock-out blow.

The colored man from Los Angeles made a speech, which was very humorous. He started in with "I am glad to see all the people here this afternoon." Child then stated that he was going to Los Angeles in the morning and that if any 175-pound man was anxious to meet him all that was necessary was to telegraph him.

Child has a style of fighting peculiarly his own. It is not very taking, but he has a habit of coming out first in his encounters. He gave La Blanche a sample of his hitting ability, and the latter in order to save himself from being knocked out deliberately fouled Child.

SPARRING LAWS IN MISSOURI.

There appears to be a well-defined plan to amend the Missouri State laws relative to sparring exhibitions and the encouragement of athletic sports, which, it is said, will receive the general support of the St. Louis and Kansas City legislators, and those representing the larger cities of the interior part of the State, such as Sedalia, Springfield, St. Joseph and other towns of importance. A St. Louis dispatch to the Kansas City Star says:

"A number of influential citizens have decided to encourage the introduction of a bill in the present General Assembly legalizing boxing and other sports in the State of Missouri under certain restrictions, which will be much greater than those put upon athletes in New York, California, Louisiana, Tennessee, Kentucky and a number of other States where glove contests and like sports are permitted. It is believed that some such a bill will meet with favor in the present State Legislature. It will be in the hands of men who will make its provisions clear to the country members, who invariably oppose anything that looks to them like legalizing tabooed liberties. Should this measure pass the General Assembly and receive the signature of the Governor, which it is understood it would, providing it passes the Senate and House, there will be established in St. Louis an athletic club that will rival any in the country. It will be conducted on the highest possible plans. It will not be devoted to glove contests alone, but will give all classes of athletes an opportunity to indulge in the recreations that go to make up physical culture. In addition to boxing, wrestling, fencing, club swinging, pole vaulting, jumping, running, cycling and other sports will be encouraged. The club will have ample capital, as $100,000 is already assured for a starter and many prominent and wealthy St. Louis business men are not only willing but eager to subscribe for the stock."

ENGLISH FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

N. L. Jackson, secretary of the Corinthian Football Team of London, writes that his club will be able to send over a team next August.

It proposes to send a combined cricket and football team, consisting of about twenty players.

The tour, as at present mapped out, includes matches in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Berlin, Ontario, Toronto, Montreal, Fall River, Pawtucket and Boston, finishing with football in Philadelphia and New York. Football will also be played in Chicago and some of the other cities. One or two crack lawn tennis men may be added to the party.

The names of the players that are mentioned as coming are: G. Brann, Sussex; G. Cotterill, Sussex and Cambridge; A. H. Hossack, A. G. Henfrey, R. C. Gosling and L. H. Gay, Cambridge; C. B. Fry, Oxford; G. Dewhurst, Cambridge; T. Lindley, Cambridge and Notts; M. Moon, Middlesex; F. Pelly, Essex; T. N. Perkins, Cambridge; G. O. Smith, Oxford; E. C. Sheatfield, Surrey; J. G. Veitch, Cambridge; C. Wreford Brown, Oxford; S. M. J. Woods, Cambridge and Somerset; J. B. Challen, Somerset; A. E. Stoddard, Middlesex; L. C. H. Palaint, Somerset.

These are some of the finest players in England, and well able to hold their own with any teams on this side of the water. They are all public school men, and nearly all of them university men. The gentlemen having the matter in charge in Chicago are now in correspondence with the other cities, and there is no doubt but that the tour will be one of the features of the coming season.

BILLIARD CHALLENGE.

George F. Slosson, the billiardist, has issued a challenge, open to any player in the world, and posted a forfeit of $1000 to show that he means business. The challenge bristles with stipulations. Nothing is left for the other man to say. He is not in it. The defi is for a home-and-home match for $1000 a side. The match, of two or three nights' duration, must be a fourteen-inch balk line game, and played in New York, the rules being those "governing the recent trophy emblematic of the world's championship."

The second match must be one night of cushion carroms, 400 points, and then he specifies the particular make of the table and cushions to be used. The first match must be played sixty days from the date of acceptance, and the second one fifteen days later. The stake money must be deposited fifteen days before the first match, both games to be play or pay, the winner to take everything in sight, except the necessary expenses. The gentlemen who think they can do up Mr. Slosson will have to say so on or before the 27th of this month, or Mr. Slosson will pull down his $1000 deposit. Any other details overlooked in the challenge are to be mutually agreed upon.

SPORTING NOTES.

August Belmont has named the full sister to Tea Tray High Tea.

The annual meeting of the American Trotting Register Association will be held at the Auditorium, Chicago, April 6th.

The National Trotting Association has $22,079.63 in its treasury and a membership of 518, the largest in its history.

H. J. Saltonstall, captain of the Elizabeth (N. J.) cyclers, has offered a $1000 trophy to be competed for at the World's Fair international meeting.

The English colt Peppercastor, by Pepper and Salt out of Lady Jane, entered in the American Derby, has arrived in this country and is at Washington, D. C.

The L.A.A.C. has very wisely concluded to reorganize its ladies' and junior gymnasium classes this year, with the view of arousing further interest in athletic sports.

The Earl of Rosebery has cabled William Easton to ship Foxhall back to England at once. The great horse was sent to this country last year, and is in the stud in Kentucky.

"Farmer" Burns of Big Rock, Iowa, is out with a challenge to the world at catch-as-catch-can wrestling for five hundred or one thousand dollars a side and the best purse offered. The defi is open to the winner of the Lewis-Roeber match, to be decided in March in New Orleans.

A small delegation of local sportsmen left for the north yesterday to attend the Pacific Coast field trials, which open at Bakersfield today. The meeting promises to exceed all of its predecessors in interest, as the entry list is larger than ever before in the history of the association.

The active members of the Los Angeles Athletic Club have been hard at work for the past week or so preparing for their ladies' night entertainment on the evening of Wednesday, February 1 next, which will consist of boxing, fencing, wrestling, club swinging and general class work.

A half interest in Jockey J. J. McCafferty's valuable stable of thoroughbreds has deen purchased by his trainer, Ed Wishard, and the horses to the number of thirty will race exclusively in the West this year. In the stable are such great performers as Helen Nichols, Aloha, Queenie Trowbridge, Hugh Pennie and other good ones.

Horsemen have been discussing the entries for the Brooklyn, Suburban and Metropolitan handicaps since their appearance a few days ago, says the Kansas City Star, and there is a general opinion that the future betting will be heavy, and that the races will be fought from end to end. There is an absolute absence of platers in the Brooklyn and Suburban, and no matter how small the fields may be the interest in the races named will be very great.

Rudolph, Wildwood and Illume are the only Western owned horses engaged in either the Brooklyn or Suburban, and unless they have improved wonderfully over their last year's form they haven't much business there. As a three-year-old Illume ran his best races in the gray of the morning. Rudolph has performed very well in indifferent company, and Wildwood's showing in California, impressive as it was, does not entitle him to a place in that kind of company.

The Pointer Club of America, at a recent meeting, decided to offer the American Field pointer cup for competition at the World's Fair dog show, unless objection is made by the donor, Dr. N. Rowe of Chicago; also to give special prizes at the same show, as follows: Twenty-five dollars for the best American-bred pointer dog, $25 for the best American-bred bitch, and $25 for the best dog or bitch, open to all. Special prizes were also voted for the New York and Washington shows.

Cycling West, a wheelman's paper of Denver, has the following: "S. H. Laverty, ex-captain of the Ramblers and an old Denver wheelman, is now comfortably settled in Los Angeles, Cal., where he holds a responsible position on a daily paper. Mr. Laverty writes that it has been raining in his place for a week, and the roads, which were execrable, are now in good condition, all of which would indicate that the more rain in Los Angeles the better it is for the roads. Mrs. Laverty (nee Miss Florence Fincher) is well and favorably known in Colorado wheeling circles as the first lady in the West to accomplish a century run."

Close upon the announcement that Col. North has decided to send over a string to race at Chicago next year, comes a semi-official one that the Duke of Beaufort will positively send over a string of five, including the American Derby candidate Sun of a Gun, twice a stake-winner in England this season. The announcement comes from A. Taylor, the Duke's trainer. Taylor has written to his cousin, Percy Taylor, of the Chicago racing firm of Taylor & Caldwell, asking him for information in regard to the landing of and caring for the horses. The latter does not state when the Duke wishes to ship. Taylor writes that Lord Harry in the North string is more than useful and likely to be a good winner here.

PASADENA.

The Town Has Entered Upon an Era of Permanent Prosperity.

Ground Will Be Broken for the Hotel Green Annex Today—Sunday's Budget of News—Happenings at the Raymond.

About a year ago there was published in these columns a resumé of the progress and growth of Pasadena in 1891. The showing made was altogether satisfactory and at its conclusion was this paragraph:

"The prosperity of the past six months should not blind the people to the fact that there is room for improvements in one line and another, which if carried out would make Pasadena a better place than it is now."

Then followed several suggestions, showing some of the important essentials in which Pasadena was lacking and earnestly advocating the carrying out of several important public measures without further delay. One of these suggestions was the completion of the sewer system; another the further development of the water supply. Still another was that the business men should advance in the line of improvements and progressive ideas. Elsewhere it was hinted that the residents and property-owners should move on by keeping their homes in "apple-pie" order, in which connection it is altogether pleasing to state that during 1892 all of the suggestions mentioned were carried out, a fact so apparent to all posted on municipal matters that it needs no further comment. The year 1892 will go down in local history as a year of exceptional growth and prosperity, which has placed Pasadena head and shoulders above all her would-be-rivals, and we have only just entered upon a remarkable season of permanent prosperity.

HOW COL. GREEN WILL CELEBRATE HIS BIRTHDAY.

Today the high board fence that incloses the land adjoining Hotel Green on the north will be torn down, which will be the first active step taken in preparation for the erection of the long-talked of and splendid new annex. The tearing down of a fence ordinarily is not a very important proceeding, but in this instance it means the beginning of a project of no small importance, and one which will prove a splendid advertisement for the town. For this reason the public generally will be interested in seeing the boards go down. Indeed, several prominent citizens have gone so far as to volunteer to assist in the job, which will probably be started with imposing ceremonies about high noon.

While Col. Green has not fully decided upon the details of the mammoth new building, work on the foundation will go on without delay, and by the time this is completed, everything will be in readiness for continuing the structure skyward to the extent of five stories.

It is worthy of mention in the same connection that today is Col. Green's birthday, which event he proposes to commemorate in the manner above outlined—by the inauguration of an undertaking which, when completed, will stand as a permanent testimonial to his public spirit and progressive ideas, and which will gain the everlasting appreciation of every citizen and property-owner who has the best interests of the town at heart.

Y.M.C.A. MASS-METTING.

A meeting of unusual interest was held by the Young Men's Christian Association at Strong's Hall yesterday afternoon. The room was completely filled with men. Mr. Arne, the well-known vocalist, led the song service and sang a solo with fine effect. Rev. A. J. Bell, the evangelist, spoke very earnestly and practically, taking for his theme the mission of the Y.M.C.A., "Run, Speak to the Young Man." He said the association is the outgrowth of orthodox Christianity crystallized. He spoke of the gospel work of the association in helping men—visiting and caring for those who come here sick. Pasadena was referred to as a highly favored place with great possibilities for the future in the work the association can do for the hundreds of young men who come here. Mr. Bell is an ardent admirer of the association as one of the great factors in the church for evangelizing young men.

Following his remarks, earnest testimony was given by many present. As an outgrowth of the meeting, a union mass-meeting has been arranged for next Thursday evening at the Methodist Episcopal Tabernacle, under the auspices of the association, in which all the churches will unite.

A PAINTER COACHING PARTY.

A merry party of twelve guests, with Mine Host M. D. Painter at the whip, and with the hotel shout of "Painter, Painter, Painter, yellow," were borne from the door of this popular hostelry bright and early Friday morning en route for Crescenta, where the day was pleasantly spent in picnic style. The party consisted of Mrs. Mason, Miss Crane, Mr. Meyer, Miss Meyer, Mrs Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond, Mrs. Johnson, the Misses Johnson and E. W. Field. Mrs. Dr. Briggs of Crescenta had hospitably anticipated their arrival and had constructed a table beneath the shade of a pepper tree, around which all gathered at noon to enjoy the bountiful lunch that had been provided. The view from this point is of surprising beauty and extent. The return trip was made by way of Verdugo Cañon and Eagle Rock Valley.

RAYMOND CHIT-CHAT.

Mrs. Charles Holbrook of San Francisco with her charming daughter and her son., H. M. Holbrook, is here for an extended stay. It is a matter of regret that since her arrival Mrs. Holbrook has been seriously ill, being still confined to her bed.

Gen. Wentworth recently received a very graceful and complimentary letter from Gen. George T. Cruft, proprietor of the well-known Maplewood Hotel, in the White Mountains in New Hampshire, and of the popular San Marco Hotel in St. Augustine, Fla., who lately passed a day or two at the Raymond. After thanking Gen. Wentworth for the courtesy and hospitality extenped to him on his visit, Gen. Cruft writes: "My cup of enjoyment was deliciously full. The whole situation, in every feature of my location and surroundings, made perfect my enjoyment, which I shall very often live over in happy memory. I have found no hotel in my travels in this section so perfect in all the details of management that makes (as with the Raymond) the comfortable, attractive, successful hotel."

Miss M. Talbot of Greenwich, Ct., joined her cousin, F. P. Benjamin of New York, on Thursday.

On Thursday evening Mrs. J. H. Outhwaite of Sierra Madre, who, with her husband and baby, is passing a week at the hotel, served up in her parlor a delicious Welsh rarebit, which was greatly enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Reed and John Green of Portland, Or., and by Miss Dows of Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y.

Charles Counselman, the well-known grain operator of Chicago, brought his family to the Raymond on Thursday for the winter and left on the overland on Friday for the East. Before leaving he purchased for his little son Charley a fine burro.

Benjamin H. Lichenstein, a well-known real estate dealer of San Francisco, and his wife and son were among Saturday's arrivals.

The Raymond now has over one hundred and seventy guests, an increase of fifty over the corresponding time last year.

The next Raymond & Whitcomb excursion is due here on Saturday.

THE GERMAN.

"The daintiest affair of the season." Such was the unanimous verdict of all who witnessed the german which Mrs. C. C. Harding of Boston arranged and conducted Saturday evening. Elegant costumes, lovely floral decorations, excellent music, a dainty collation, pretty favors, such was the order of the evening. The stage was gaily adorned with a handsome combination of fine palm leaves, beautiful calla lilies, delicate maidenhair ferns, the stately poinsettea and the dainty smilax, the whole setting being elaborately arranged under the supervision of Mrs. Gen. Wentworth. The ladies who received and presided at the favor table were: Mrs. Gen. Wentworth, who wore a handsome Paris gown of black brocade with gold embroidery; Mrs. F. S. Newell of Kenosha, Wis., in an elegant costume of pink striped satin; Mrs. W. Irelan of Baltimore, who was in black silk and lace with pink roses and diamond ornaments, and Mrs. B. E. Kinsley of Providence, R. I., who was arrayed in a charming robe of white lace. The favors were for the first figure, corsage bouquets for the ladies with boutonineres for their gallant partners; in the second, bows for the ladies and rosettes for the gentlemen; in the third the ladies were handed fancy pins, while the gentlemen received whips decorated with the Raymond colors; in the fourth the ladies took bric-a-brac, while their partners kept them (the ladies) cool with dainty fans; in the fifth and last figure, sachets were bestowed upon the ladies, the gentlemen being favored with shaving paper balls. Besides three fancy figures and a round-up, two new movements were introduced, viz., the palm, which was the idea of Mrs. Kinsley, and the padlock, which was arranged by Mrs. Harding, and which caused considerable amusement.

The gentlemen, who participated, and their partners, with the latter's costumes, were as follows: J. H. Outhwaite of Sierra Madra, and Mrs. Outhwaite, who, as one interested spectator put it, "looked just perfectly lovely," in a beautiful gown of canary chiffon over silk, with diamond ornaments; James Elliman of Slough, England, and Mrs. C. C. Harding of Boston, who was in a pretty light blue figured China silk dress, with feather trimmings; H. F. Crank of Fair Oaks, and Miss Hattie Bain of Kenosha, Wis., who had a dainty costume of black lace over pink satin; Mr. Hall of Los Angeles, and Miss Eleanor Hall, who was in white striped tulle over satin; Maj. A. W. Hanson of London, England, and Mrs. B. E. Kinsley, whose costume is given above; Gordon Tweed of Lowell, Mass., and Miss Greble, whose petite form was enveloped in pale green with embroidered chiffon and trimmings of ribbon; H. W. Watson of Los Angeles and Miss A. A. Brown of Hartford, Ct., who was attired in a delicate gown of white mulle over satin; Mr. Burks of Los Angeles and Miss Edna Lowe of Pasadena, who displayed dotted white tulle and satin, and who carried a handsome bouquet of roses; C. Hastings of Sierra Madre and Miss Edith Wilde of Boston, who danced exceedingly well in white China silk; Gen. Wentworth and Mrs. Irelan, whose robe has already been described; Mr. Brown of Pasadena and Miss Zoe Lowe, who looked very pretty in striped tulle over lemon satin; Thad Lowe of Pasadena and Miss Lois Hall of Pasadena, who wore yellow brocade silk; W. M. Garland of Los Angeles and Miss Shreve of Oakland, who was attractively attired in white brocade satin; Dr. Frasse of Pasadena and Miss Houghton of Oakland, whose stately figure was displayed in pale blue brocade satin and crépe de chene with white lace; J. E. Bleeckman of Los Angeles and Mrs. Winslow of Pasadena, who was in black lace over heliotrope; F. B. Henderson of Los Angeles and Miss Sampson of Denver, whose merry face was charmingly set off by a handsome costume of light blue cashmere and satin, and who bore a beautiful bouquet of roses; Sewall F. Wentworth of the Raymond staff and Miss Cooley of Pasadena, who was in white gauze, and W. R. Staats of Pasadena and Miss Dows, who was attractively robed in white striped crépe with lace and diamond ornaments.

During the evening the big punch bowl, filled with delicious punch, which the skillful hands of Frank Burns had evolved, satisfied the thirst of the dancers, while at 11 Head-waiter Baldwin and his assistant, James Dolan, served up a dainty lunch. This notice would be incomplete without a mention of the orchestra, whose playing was faultless.

REMNANT SALE.

This week at the Bon Accord, short lengths of dress goods, domestics, ribbons, embroideries and odd lots of hosiery and underwear at rock prices.

PASADENA BREVITIES.

E. C. Webster came up yesterday from his Perris ranch.

Yesterday's overland arrived about an hour behind time.

Remnant sale at the Bon Accord this week. Come early.

Co. B will hold a regular weekly drill at the Armory tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. Kingsbury and family of Hailey, Idaho, who have paid several visits to Pasadena, have decided to return here in a couple of weeks to remain permanently.

Much local interest has been manifested in the boomerang throwers, and more than one party has been formed to visit Los Angeles and watch the performance of these same people.

Work on the foundation of the Hotel Green annex begins today. This will furnish opportunity for all who need dirt for filling or grading purposes to obtain the same in unlimited quantities by applying to Manager Holmes.

Late arrivals at the Hotel Green include I. Faries and daughter, Annie G. Faries, Minneapolis; A. G. Davidson and wife, San Francisco; John G. Howard and wife, F. N. La Salle and wife, Miss Ebie, Duluth; William Princert, Edward Cooper, Los Angeles; F. F. Barbour, San Francisco; Mrs. W. C. Price and child, Miss De Ette Price, Oakland; Miss Maud McMechan, Crawfordsville, Ind.

Fanny Rice will appear at the operahouse tonight in A Jolly Surprise. The advance sale of seats has been large, and there is no doubt but that a full house will witness the performance. A San Francisco exchange says: "No such genuine laughter, enthusiasm and applause has ever been heard or seen in the Stockwell Theater as that caused by clever Fanny Rice and her really good company in the new Jolly Surprise, and such a thing as getting a seat after 8 o'clock any night during the two weeks' engagement has been an impossibility."

SOUTH PASADENA.

Miss Hannah Pratt, the evangelist, who has been holding services in the Methodist Church for the past ten days, is seriously ill with an attack of acute bronchitis, at the residence of Rev. Bunker, with whom she has been stopping.

The Board of Library Trustees held a meeting last Wednesday, and arranged for the purchase of a lot of books, which will appear on the shelves in a few days.

A meeting of the Board of Improvement has been called for Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, at the schoolhouse hall. All interested in advancing the interests of South Pasadena are earnestly requested to attend and assist in inaugurating improvements.

The Board of Trustees contemplates grading and graveling that part of Pasadena avenue which runs through adobe ground in the lower part of Lincoln Park. It has been a very bad piece of road during rainy weather, and should be improved. While on this subject, Garfield avenue and parts of Fair Oaks and East Monterey street should receive attention, as there is a great deal of travel over them, and they are badly worn.

THE world-wide reputation of Ayer's Hair Vigor is due to its healthy action on the hair and scalp. This incomparable preparation restores the original color to gray and faded hair, and imparts the gloss and freshness so much desired by all classes of people.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY.

Prisoners in the County Jail Dissatisfied With Their Treatment.

Put on Short Rations to Break Their Rebellious Spirit—Another Meeting of Orange-growers and Packers at Riverside.

SAN BERNARDINO.

The vagrants incarcerated in the County Jail are very restless under the treatment now given them. They tried a few days ago to create a disturbance by burning a lot of rags in the jail. When Jailer McFarlane ordered them to their cells because of their action an outbreak was threatened. The prisoners are now upon short rations, receiving but one meal a day. Against this they are protesting, and have addressed a long letter to Sheriff Booth, entreating him to give them more food. As there are many among the prisoners who make it a point to secure a home in the jail during the winter because of the good living and comfortable lodging they have been in the habit of receiving, the new movement will have a tendency to discourage this attitude on the part of the vags.

SAN BERNARDINO BREVITIES.

E. E. Hout and Miss Irene Wise are to be united in wedlock today.

The Courier and Santa Ana teams played ball yesterday afternoon in this city.

The hotels in this city are now well filled, and the restaurants are doing a good business.

Miss Daisy Hawly has gone to Honey Grove, Tex., for an extended visit among relatives.

The City Creek Water Company has elected R. E. Longmire president, vice A. S. Hawley, resigned.

The San Antonio Electric Light and Power Company has its wires through the city and is lighting a number of business houses. San Bernardino is soon to be well lighted, as there are now three electric light companies in the city.

There is great need of rain in this region. It has been more or less cloudy for a week, and the ranchers have been looking hopefully upon them. But not a drop has fallen save a very light local sprinkle at an early hour yesterday morning.

Sheriff Booth and others are engaged in a commendable enterprise—that of forming a library in the County Jail for the use of prisoners. A good beginning is already made, and all having books which they may care to donate, are requested to leave them at the Sheriff's office.

The Crittenten meetings were begun at the Methodist Episcopal Church last evening with a very large attendance. The most of the evangelical churches held no service, to give all an opportunity to join in the union revival meeting. They will be continued through the week.

RIVERSIDE.

On Saturday afternoon the orange-growers, packers and shippers came together again and endeavored to form some kind of a compact for furthering the interests of all concerned. T. H. B. Chamblin was chosen chairman and Frank Emerson secretary, and the report from the committee of the general meeting of growers was read and taken under advisement by another committee appointed by this meeting. It is proposed in the plan outlined by the committee to associate together all the growers, packers and shippers of oranges in Southern California under the name of the "Southern California Fruit Exchange," the headquarters of which are to be located at Riverside. The object of the association or exchange will be "for the purpose of regulating the prices of fruit and the distribution thereof," as stated in the introductory clause of the report. The plan proposed calls for one representative, selected by each firm, corporation or association to constitute a general committee of management for the exchange. The report defines the powers to be vested in this committee.

The report is taken under consideration by the Packers' Association, to be acted upon at a meeting to be held next Wednesday. The growers have called a meeting for tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Y.M.C.A. Hall.

RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

The Riverside Polo Club will play another game this afternoon.

Miss J. Edwards will depart for Germany soon to prosecute her studies in music.

J. G. Kirby will leave today for Lexington, Ill., where he is going into business.

A party of about twenty Riversiders and guests visiting here picnicked at Arrowhead on Saturday.

The Odd Fellows will go to Chino this evening to assist in the installation of the officers of the lodge at that place.

Rev. Dr. Hanson of Chicago occupied the pulpit of Rev. Dr. Deere at the All Souls' Universalist Church yesterday morning.

The East Riverside Literary Society held a very interesting meeting on Friday night. The next meeting will be a Burns meeting.

The bicycle has now come to be used by the commercial traveler, cases being made to fit into the frame of the wheel. There are two drummers in this city at present who are working Southern California in that way.

The Loring Operahouse was packed from pit to gallery on Saturday evening at the presentation of The Chimes of Normandy by the Los Angeles Opera Company. The opera was presented in a most finished manner, and the singing elicited hearty applause in many parts. While in the city the company, forty-two strong, were guests at the Glenwood.

The Loring was packed Saturday night, every seat being taken. The Los Angeles Opera Company must feel complimented in the reception given it by the Riverside public. The presentation of The Chimes of Normandy was of a high standard, lacking the features which cling to amateurs, and surpassing some of the presentations of this opera by professionals.

REDLANDS.

The City Trustees have received and filed an offer from the Redlands Electric Light and Power Company to light the city by electricity. The bids are for all-night schedule, and so much per light per month, upon contracts to run one, two or three years, the prices depending upon the number of lights and the length of contract. The scale of prices is as follows:

No. of Lights.	Price per light per month, contract to run 1 year.	2 years.	3 years.

Supervisors to Fill Vacancies in County Offices—The Mazatlan Steamers.

Considerable interest is manifested in the action to be taken next Monday by the Board of Supervisors with regard to filling some county vacancies. The principal interest seems to center upon the offices of county physician and superintendent of the poor farm. For the former place the aspirants are Dr. D. Gochenauer, Dr. Hulbert, Dr. Carson, Dr. Escher and the incumbent, Dr. Crepin. Supervisor Nason seems to be the important personage, for it is asserted that two of the contestants have two votes each, and that Nason is very non-committal. As goes Nason, so goes the board, is the way the thing looks at the present writing.

For superintendent of the poor farm, Jim Duffy, a Democrat, has the pull at the present time. While no one even hints at the possibility of a Republican getting the place when the Democrats are in power, yet it is almost conceded that a Democrat is about to get this plum at the hands of a Republican board.

The steamers for the new line to Mazatlan are expected to arrive from San Francisco next week, and to make the first trip to Mazatlan and way ports the following week. H. A. Howard returned Wednesday from a short trip to Ensenada, where he went to complete arrangements regarding his concession from the Mexican government, and not to show Gen. Collins some mines, as the evening paper innocently had it.

When the newly-elected Treasurer, Long, assumed the duties of his office he found that there should be in the treasury cash to the amount of $191,833.05. Instead of this amount he found only $154,742.50, the difference between these two sums being represented by certificates of deposit of the defunct California National Bank. Treasurer Long thereupon sent a communication to the Board of Supervisors, reciting the facts and notifying it that he would not be held responsible for the deficiency. The board referred his communication to the District Attorney, who responded with an opinion to the effect that Mr. Long could only be held responsible for the amount of cash actually received by him.

Heintzelman Post, G.A.R., had a most interesting ceremony the other evening when their newly elected officers were installed and the name of their hall was changed from Horton Hall to G.A.R. Hall and the same was dedicated to Grand Army purposes. The officers installed were Post Commander, A. F. Dill; S. V., L. D. Burbeck; J. V., Ed. Smith; Quartermaster, A. Pettingill; Chaplain, B. F. McDaniel; Surgeon, H. P. Woodward; O. of the D., J. Von Castle; O. of the G., Willis Ackles; Adjutant, L. W. Allum; Sergeant Major, J. A. Kooken; O S., A. T. Large; O. G., William Reupsch. Dr. R. M. Powers officiated as the installing officer. Music, recitations and refreshments followed.

Bids for printing the official proceedings of the Board of Supervisors were received and opened by the board the other day. The bid from the Union was $50 per month and that of the San Diegan-Sun was $60 per month. The Union's bid being the lowest, was accepted, but was afterward reconsidered by the board and the matter is now "hung up," to see if there is any way of getting out of giving it to the Union. The Union has rapped the board pretty hard at times when it ought to have been rapped harder, and the board doesn't like it and will get even by giving the county printing to the San Diegan-Sun, which has conveniently kept quiet, if they can, and they generally manage to find a way to do as they want to.

The Railroad Extension Committee met in the office of the Mayor yesterday to consider the advisability of sending a representative to Arizona to effect the incorporation of a railroad under the laws of the Territory. Considerable discussion was had, and finally O. J. Stough, one of San Diego's wealthy and public-spirited citizens, who has evinced much interest in this railroad proposition ever since it started, offered to go at his own expense if it was the sense of the committee that that was the best thing to do. The committee decided that it was, and accepted Mr. Stough's offer. The plan is to have the directory of the new road made up of San Diego and Phœnix (Ariz.) men, a working majority of the board to be San Diego men. Construction would begin in San Diego, but later would be carried on from both ends of the line. The citizens of Phœnix are heartily with us, but San Diego expects to have to do the greater part of the work, although we expect very material assistance from Phœnix. Mr. Stough expects to leave some time next week.

At the time of the failure of the California Bank there was about $45,000 of the city's money on deposit therein. The city demanded this money of the receiver on the grounds that the money was a special deposit and should be returned in tact, and on the further ground that the Treasurer had no authority to deposit said money in the bank, and that the officers of the bank knew it, and that therefore the deposit should be treated as a trust fund and returned in toto. Receiver Murray refused to surrender the money to the city, and the city brought suit. To their complaint the receiver demurred, and the demurrer has been sustained by the Superior Court in Department Three, Judge Pierce presiding. The effect of the decision is to leave this large sum of money in the hands of the receiver, to be by him disbursed among the depositors of the defunct institution, and the depositors are correspondingly elated. Gen. Murray, the receiver, deserves credit for so staunchly defending the interests of the depositors, many of whom are poor working people, seamstresses, servant girls, etc., who had their little all in the institution which was so completely and scientifically wrecked by Collins and Dare.

Fatal Accident to an Eleven-year-old Boy—Lively Runaway.

A distressing and fatal accident occurred Thursday afternoon on the avenue to the eldest son of a gardener named Hutchins. The lad, who was aged about 11 years, was walking on stilts, using a pointed lath to balance himself with. In some way he slipped and the end of the lath entered the throat, passing through the asophagus. All that medical skill could do was done for the little fellow, but of no avail, as he was unable to swallow. He died Friday evening and was buried Saturday afternoon.

He was stopped on the corner of Meta and Chestnut streets. Strange to say, no serious damage was done to anything. Frightful Death of a Young French Girl at El Toro.

A Youth Accidentally Shot in the Southern Pacific Depot at Anaheim—Los Angeles Cyclers at Santa Ana—General News Notes.

SANTA ANA.

Maria Bvar of El Toro, a fifteen-year-old French girl living on the Louis Moulton ranch at El Toro, died Saturday morning and her remains were shipped to Los Angeles Saturday evening for interment. Her death was the result of a frightful burn received over a week ago about the head and face. She was washing her hair with kerosene while sitting near a lighted candle. In rubbing her head vigorously her hair, saturated with the oil, came too near the light, and, igniting, in an instant her head was enveloped in flames. Before a quilt could be thrown over her and the fire smothered she was frightfully burned about the head and face. After a week's suffering death resulted from the effects of the injuries.

LOS ANGELES CYCLERS.

The first squad of the Los Angeles Bicycle Club arrived yesterday in this city about 1 p.m., in time for a square meal at the Brunswick Hotel, the second squad and the remainder of the party arriving a few minutes later. The trip to this city was made in a trifle over three hours, a distance of thirty-five miles, notwithstanding the fact that a stop had to be made at New River long enough for the stream to be forded. Several of the wheelmen disrobed sufficiently to carry the wheels, and their timid companions over the chilly stream, after which the run was taken up with renewed vigor. The start on the return trip was made at 2:15 p.m. Following are the names of the cyclers who constituted the party: Capt. T. Q. Hall, Ira Martin, J. W. Cowan, W. K. Cowan, D. L. Burke, W. E. Syler, W. W. Jenkins, F. Holbrook, P. Kitchin, J. L. Standifer.

Potatoes are becoming a most important and valuable product of Orange county. The country west of the Santa Ana river is especially adapted to the raising of potatoes and other vegetables, and from this locality hundreds of tons of vegetables are produced and shipped North and East. There will be a large acreage west of the river planted to potatoes this spring.

When the report of the fatal accident to J. M. Jamison at Los Angeles yesterday first reached this city it was thought the unfortunate man was J. B. Jamison, a resident of Santa Ana. Word was sent out in the country to friends of his sudden death, but when they came to THE TIMES branch office to try if possible and obtain particulars, they were informed that it was J. M. Jamison instead of J. B. Jamison who had accidentally met his death.

The Riverside Press, in speaking of the Editorial Association meeting in Orange country, follows the excursion to Anaheim and the upper Santa Ana Valley in the following complimentary paragraph: "After the banquet there was a delightful afternoon drive through the country, during which a number of magnificent groves were visited. The highest praise we can accord them is that they looked as thrifty and well as Riverside groves."

ANAHEIM.

A young man about 18 or 20 years of age, who hails from Orange, accidently shot himself at 8 o'clock Saturday morning, in the waiting-room of the Southern Pacific depot, with a 32-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver. The young man, whose name could not be learned, had just driven up to the depot in a cart and had gone in to buy a ticket for Texas, whither he was going, when a loud report was heard, and on going in to see what the matter was, Agent Darling found that the young fellow had attempted to pull the revolver (self-acting) out of his right pants pocket, when it was accidently discharged, the ball entering his right hip and coming out in the back of the leg. The unfortunate youth was at once driven to Dr. Bullard's office, and the wound was dressed. No serious consequences are expected to follow, but the proposed journey will have to be postponed for a while.

There is some talk of reorganizing the Anaheim baseball club. The boys had a strong team last year and year before, and it is to be hoped they can get together again for the summer campaign.

Special inducements are being offered by Evergreen Council, A. L. H., to attract new members, with the result that thirteen have already joined, and ten more will soon be added to the list. This order is in a flourishing condition, and is very popular here.

A very pleasant time was enjoyed at Miss Arthur's assembly at the Del Campo Hotel Saturday night.

A large number of trees are being sold by the nurseries, and the indications are that there will be a large acreage of new trees planted this year.

The Tale of the Telephone.

[Sheffield Telegraph.]

The first telephone that was ever used was not electrical, nor was it a scientific instrument in any sense of the term. A little more than fifty years ago the employés of a large manufactory beguiled their leisure hours by kite flying. Kites large and small went up daily, and the strife was to see who could get the largest. The twine which held them was the thread spun and twisted by the ladies of the village.

One day to the tail of the largest kite was attached a kitten, sewed in a canvas bag, with a netting over the mouth to give it air. When the kite was at its greatest height, some two hundred feet or more, the mewing of the kitten could be distinctly heard by those holding the string. To the clearness of the atmosphere was attributed the hearing of the kitten's voice. This is the first account we remember of speaking along a line.

PLEASANT OUTING.

The Times Staff Out for a Sunday Airing.

A Visit to the Hotel Oakwood and Lucky Baldwin's Ranch—Drive Through the Orange Groves and Vineyards—Handsomely Entertained.

Jolly outings, days passed in the pursuit of pleasure unalloyed with thought of labor, come "few and far between" to the newspaper men—that is, to the real workers on a daily paper which goes before the public seven days every week. Not often do the individual writers get away from their routine work, and much less frequently does the "staff" go out for a good time together. When such an unusual thing does come to pass, the occurrence seems of so much importance to the participants as to warrant the chronicling of the incidents of a memorable day.

The newspaper men who are daily engaged in writing of other people in the world seldom have a chace to say much about themselves, not so much, perhaps, on account of the inherent modesty peculiar to the profession, but because they are so busy writing of others' picnics that they can have none of their own.

Yesterday a portion of THE TIMES staff had an outing. This is breaking the news suddenly and may totally unnerve the reader, so he can continue the perusal only with much emotion, but the truth had to be blurted right out.

This is the way it happened.

M. Lawrence, manager of Baldwin's Hotel Oakwood, Arcadia, invited the entire staff of THE TIMES to come up to that charming retreat in Lucky's big ranch and eat a Sunday dinner with him. This invitation was flanked by another from George Butler, proprietor of the stage line which runs daily between Los Angeles and Arcadia, to ride thither behind his four-in-hand. The inducements were irresistible, and all the members of the TIMES writing force that could get up in time to leave the corner of Broadway and First street at the unreasonably early hour of 11 a.m. were promptly on hand, as were two invited guests.

As most people know, George Butler knows how to drive a stage. In years gone by, when he flipped the flies off his leaders with a long lash, and made schedule time between Los Angeles and Wilmington, he did not have so fine a coach as the one he now whirls so gaily through the groves and vineyards of this city's environs. He lost no time in getting his passengers outside the city limits, and then continued the steady and pleasurably rapid spin over excellent roads, to and through Pasadena, orange groves on all sides, the mountains looming above and on the left, the sun beaming its kindliest, the breeze stirring its gentlest and the horses doing their level best.

Traversing the famous ranch of "Lucky" Baldwin, through miles of orchards, vineyards, fields and groves, the stage arrived in good time at the Oakwood, with THE TIMES office sixteen miles away.

The dinner which was set before the visitors vanished in a way that spoke well for its quality, and for the appetizing effect of the air tonic which had been imbibed on the way up. Mr. Lawrence was glad to see the party, and must have been pleased at the evidence of appreciation of the hospitality, and after the meal was disposed of he took his visitors in his own rig over to the stables of "Lucky" Baldwin. The colored boy who chaperoned the party through the premises where over two hundred fine racehorses have their abiding place could rattle off pedigrees and parentage of the beautiful animals in a way that was really entrancing. Beauties these horses are, all of them, and more carefully kept than most human pampered pets. As they are valued at sums ranging as high as $30,000 each, there is reason why Mr. Baldwin's horses should be carefully tended. At the other stables the party inspected another lot of extremely valuable horses, of which old Grinstead is the patriarch and the Emperor of Norfolk is the honored chief. Mr. Wood, who is in charge of the Baldwin stables, kindly exhibited the kings and queens of the turf and told of some of their notable achievements.

The visit was far too brief to see much of this famous ranch, and the invitation of H. A. Unruh to inspect other portions of the 54,000 acres had to be held over to some future time. Mr. Unruh, as local manager for E. J. Baldwin, exhibits pardonable pride in the great property under his charge. Each of the visitors plucked some fine oranges with the avidity usually shown by recently-arrived tourists from the ice-bound East.

Then the party came home.

A Quiet Wedding.

A quiet wedding took place at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, at the residence of Dr. R. W. Miller, No. 151 West Twenty-eighth street, the contracting parties being Harvey S. Gaines and Miss Sarah L. Munn. Rev. F. V. Fisher, pastor of the Vincent Methodist Episcopal Church, tied the knot. The groom has held a position the past eighteen months in the office of H. C. Whitehead, auditor of the Southern California Railway Company, where he was held in high esteem for his courteous and genial manner and the promptness and efficiency with which his duties were always discharged.

The bride is a charming and worthy young lady, highly appreciated and beloved by those most intimately acquainted with her.

Their future home will be at Sierra Madre, at which place they will be "at home" to their many friends after February 20.

AT CORONADO BEACH.

The new natatorium, under glass roof, conducted by the management of the Hotel del Coronado at Coronado Beach, is proving a regular mine of fun for the guests now enjoying life at this huge caravansary. It is worth a dollar for each performance to see the daily circus unconsciously furnished by the bathers on the toboggan slides, barrel horses, high dives and trapezes. A competent swimming teacher is in attendance all the while for the children and ladies who are timid. For fuller information call on the Hotel del Coronda agency, 129 North Spring street, Los Angeles.

How It Became Popular.

When people find an article much superior to anything of the kind they have ever before used, they are almost sure to tell their friends about it, and especially if they know of some friends needing such an article. Dealers also soon learn the true value of their goods, and when they have an article of unusual merit they will almost invariably mention the fact to their customers. This accounts in a great measure for the large sale on Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Here is an instance: W. L. Needham, a prominent citizen and business man of Orrsburg, Mo., has been selling Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for several years and recommends it to his customers, because in his experience it has proven to be the best for colds, croup and whooping cough. He says it is the most popular medicine that he handles and gives the best satisfaction. 50-cent bottles for sale by John Beckwith & Son, Druggists, 303 North Main street.

A. Hamburger & Sons People's Store SAFEST PLACE TO TRADE

JANUARY JOGGINGS

Jolly, jovial, joyous throngs were with us all during the past week attending our sale. More people pass through the portals of our establishment than through any in this State. More reasons than one for this—mainly, however, because we do not think it wise to carry wares after the season. We strip the very bark off, and leave only the bare trunk. We do not even stop at cost, but in some items go beyond. Merchandise only has its value when it is seasonable and salable. Many wares that went with a rush in October are dead in January. We, however, place new life therein when we name new prices. The effect is magical. This is what we term our
